The Fund will invest in A-Shares included in the Index through Stock Connect, which may include stocks on the Small and Medium Enterprise Board and/or ChiNext Board of the Shenzhen Stock Exchange. Clean energy involves ensuring access to affordable, reliable, sustainable and modern energy.

Risk and Reward Profile

This indicator above is based on historical data and may not be a reliable indication of the future risk profile of the share class and the Fund. The risk category shown is not guaranteed and may change over time. The lowest category does not mean a risk-free investment.

This share class is in risk category 7 due to the range and frequency of price movements (i.e. the volatility) of the underlying investments referenced by the Fund which may not be a reliable indicator of the future risk profile of the share class.

The Fund offers no capital guarantee or protection.

The Fund may be subject to risks which are not included in the calculation of the risk-reward indicator. Key risk factors include:

Concentration Risk: The Fund's investments will be highly concentrated in the clean energy sector. The lack of diversification across the Fund's portfolio may increase the losses suffered by the Fund if this sector were to suffer a downturn. Furthermore, clean energy companies are particularly exposed to risks such as new governmental policies and regulations, technological change and product obsolescence.

Currency Risk: Some of the Fund's investments will be denominated in currencies other than the Fund's base currency (USD) therefore investors may be affected by adverse movements of the denominated currency and the base currency. The Fund may attempt to use FDIs to hedge against negative currency movements, however there is no guarantee that any attempts at hedging will be successful.

Derivatives Risk: The Fund may invest in FDIs to hedge against risk. There is no guarantee that the Fund's use of derivatives for either purpose will be successful. Derivatives are subject to counterparty risk (including potential loss of instruments) and are highly sensitive to underlying price movements, interest rates and market volatility and therefore come with a greater risk.

Equities Risk: The Fund may invest in equity securities which are subject to greater fluctuations than other assets. Factors which may affect the fluctuation including economic conditions, industry or company news. High volumes of trading may also see increased transaction costs.

Liquidity Risk: The Fund may invest in securities which may, due to negative market conditions, become difficult to sell or may need to be sold at an unfavourable price. This may affect the overall value of the Fund.

Mainland China Risk: The economy of mainland China differs from the economies of most developed countries, including the level of government involvement, its state of development, its growth rate, control of foreign exchange, and allocation of resources. Economic growth has also been accompanied by periods of high inflation. The mainland Chinese government has implemented various measures from time to time to control inflation and restrain the rate of economic growth. Although the majority of productive assets in mainland China are still owned by the mainland Chinese government, in recent years, the mainland Chinese government has implemented economic reforms to achieve decentralisation and utilisation of market forces to develop the economy of mainland China which have resulted in significant economic growth and social progress. There is no certainty that this will continue. Political changes, social instability and adverse diplomatic developments in mainland China could result in the imposition of additional government restrictions including expropriation of assets, confiscatory taxes or nationalisation of some or all of the property held in the Fund's portfolio. The regulatory and legal framework in mainland China may further not be as well developed as those of developed countries.

Market Risk: The risk that the market will go down in value, with the possibility that such changes will be sharp and unpredictable.

Operational Risk (including safekeeping of assets): The Fund and its assets may experience material losses as a result of technology/system failures, human error, policy breaches, and/or incorrect valuation of units. Social, political and economic developments and laws differ between regions.

Risks associated with the ability to track an index: Transaction costs and other fees and expenses to be borne by the Fund and exchange rate factors where the underlying equities are denominated in a different currency to the base currency or currency of any class of shares are likely to affect the ability of a fund to track the performance of the Index.

For more information on risks, please see the sections entitled "Risk Factors" in the prospectus of the ICAV and in the supplement to the prospectus.
