Investment objective

The investment objective of Sarasin EmergingSar – Global is long-term capital growth.

Investment policy

The assets of the Sarasin EmergingSar – Global subfund are invested either directly or indirectly in shares of companies domiciled in emerging markets, in country and regional funds and listed index certificates and index futures as well as warrants on index certificates of emerging markets. Emerging markets include the developing countries of Asia, Latin America, Eastern Europe and Africa. The investment policy is based on a systematic process which is underpinned by a quantitative investment concept. Index certificates are transferable securities for equity index investments. The subfund may only invest in index certificates issued by first-class financial institutions specialised in these types of transactions. These investments are limited to 10% per issuer in each case. It should be noted that index certificates are not only exposed to an issuer risk, but also to the risk associated with the underlying securities. Equity investments are either made directly on the local stock exchange or through foreign certificates for these equities, which are traded on a recognised stock exchange (generally the New York Stock Exchange or London Stock Exchange). The assets of the subfund are invested in closed-end equity funds regulated by authorities in one of the following countries, where they are traded on the stock exchange: USA, European Union, Japan, Hong Kong, Canada and Switzerland. It must be noted that the stock market prices of closed-end funds include costs, such as management and custodian fees. The subfund does not invest in funds whose investment objective is to invest in financial futures or options, in real estate, in venture capital investments or money market instruments. In addition, the subfund can hold up to 15% of its net assets in liquid assets. In addition, shares of other UCITS/UCIs may be used in accordance with the information contained in section 3.3 of the full prospectus entitled “Investment Restrictions”. The investments can be made directly or, if permitted, using the investment techniques and instruments described in section 3.4 of the prospectus entitled “Specific Techniques and Instruments Involving Money Market Instruments and Transferable Securities”, although a leverage effect on the subfund’s net assets is not permitted.

Frequent political and social unrest in emerging markets and associated high inflation and interest rates may lead to significant fluctuations in currencies and stock market prices. Due to the smaller size of many emerging markets, there is also a risk of restricted liquidity. Possible restrictions on foreigners carrying out

Risk profile

Investments in a fund can fluctuate in value, and there is no guarantee that the shares can be sold for the original capital amount invested.

In addition, if the investor’s reference currency differs from the Fund’s investment currency(ies), a currency risk exists. As the Sarasin EmergingSar – Global subfund invests in equities, its performance is primarily influenced by company-specific changes and changes in the economic environment. Investments in emerging markets carry higher price risk. It aims to reduce risk by actively diversifying its investments.

This fund has a risk classification of 5 (risk classes: 1: low, 2: moderate, 3: medium, 4: above average, 5: high). A detailed description of the risks and the risk classes can be found in the full prospectus.

Investor profile

This subfund is suited to investors with a long-term investment horizon seeking capital appreciation.

The Sarasin EmergingSar – Global is intended as a supplementary investment in emerging markets equities for experienced investors.

Dividend policy

The Company intends to pay out at least 85% of the investment income, less general expenses (“ordinary net income”), to class A shareholders every year, as well as a portion of the realised capital gains, less capital losses (“net capital gains”), such portion being decided by the general meeting of the relevant subfund. The Company does not distribute dividends to shareholders of classes B, F or M (see also “Additional important information” under “Share classes” and “Share classes issued”). A corresponding amount will be attributed to these shareholders at the time of a dividend distribution. Dividends are normally distributed in October.

Fees and expenses payable by the subfund

Annual fees and expenses payable by the subfund:

Management fee of up to 1.75% for class A and B shares, if issued, up to 1.20% for class F shares, if issued, and up to 0.20% for class M shares, if issued.

Service charge of up to 0.195% p.a. for all issued share classes. The remuneration of the management company is based on the net assets calculated on each valuation day and is payable quarterly in arrears.

In addition to the management fee, the management company for share classes A, B and F (but not for share class M) is entitled to a performance-based fee (“performance fee”) which is calculated on the basis of the net asset value of each share class. The performance fee is due if the fund outperforms the benchmark index over a calendar year (“outperformance”). The benchmark index is the MSCI Emerging Markets (Free) Index (net return in USD).

The maximum performance fee is 20% of the outperformance. The calculation of the performance fee and the required provisions is carried out daily on the basis of the shares of each class currently outstanding and is payable annually in arrears for the performance period in question. The amount due in respect of the performance fee is the sum of the provisions made daily over a calendar year. The fund is regularly debited with the provisions. If outperformance falls, the fund is credited with the appropriate amount. In each case, the amounts accrued for the performance fee are paid after the close of the calendar year. Upon redemption of fund shares any performance fee reserve that relates to the redeemed shares will be paid out to the management company.

Definitions:

Fund performance: the arithmetic difference between the net asset value per share at the beginning and end of the period in question, expressed as a percentage.

Benchmark performance: the arithmetic difference between the level of the relevant benchmark index at the beginning and end of the period in question, expressed as a percentage.

Outperformance: if the fund’s performance over the period in question is greater than that of the benchmark, the arithmetic difference between the fund performance and the benchmark performance, expressed as a percentage.

The amount due per fund share for the performance-fee provision is calculated as follows:

Net asset value per share (before performance-fee provision) × outperformance in % × max. 20%. The net asset value relevant for the performance fee is adjusted by any dividend distributions made in the past (option for the reinvestment of dividends).

Luxembourg “taxe d’abonnement” of 0.05% on class A and B shares and 0.01% on class F and M shares.

All other fees and expenses of the Company such as custodian and paying agent fees (max. 0.1% p.a. plus reimbursement of the fees and expenses of the collective custodians and foreign correspondent banks it uses) and all paying agents and local representatives in the distribution countries are charged to the subfund prorata to its assets. This also applies to expenses resulting from the general business operations of the Company.
