Mirabaud Equities

Mirabaud Equities – ASIA

Important Information

This simplified prospectus contains the main information regarding Mirabaud Equities – Asia (the “Sub-Fund”).

The rights and obligations of investors, as well as their contractual relationship with Mirabaud Equities (the “Company”), are set out in the full prospectus in force (the “Full Prospectus”). The Full Prospectus, as well as the periodic financial statements, may be obtained from the Company free of charge.

Investment objective

The investment objective of the Sub-Fund is to achieve capital growth with particular emphasis on protecting the capital during market downturns.

Investment Strategy

The “Asia” sub-fund will invest at least two thirds of its total assets in Asian equities or other equity-type transferable securities, in other words securities of issuers that have their registered office or carry out the majority of their business in Asia, with a view to maximising the value of its assets in the medium to long term.

Furthermore, the sub-fund may invest a maximum of one third of its total assets in: (i) warrants; (ii) subscription rights; (iii) structured products including, inter alia, bonds, certificates and any other transferable securities whose returns are linked to the performance of an index (such as, in particular, a volatility index, transferable securities index, interest rate index, currency index or an index relating to a basket of transferable securities); (iv) units and/or shares of UCITS and/or other UCIs referred to under 3.1 (d) or other types of undertakings for collective investment referred to under 3.2 (a), up to a maximum of 10% of its net assets (where such other types of undertakings for collective investment are regulated and may expose the sub-fund to “alternative” asset classes); and (v) financial derivative instruments whose underlying instruments consist of commodity and/or precious metals indices, up to a maximum of 10% of the net assets of the sub-fund per index, provided that the total value of commitments entered into in relation to financial derivative instruments whose underlying instruments consist of commodity and/or precious metals indices and in which the sub-fund invests more than 5% of its net assets does not exceed 40% of its total net assets.

The sub-fund may also invest up to 100% of its net assets in money market instruments and in units and/or shares of UCITS and/or other UCIs investing in money market instruments or in cash if the asset manager believes that this is in the best interest of shareholders; however, such investments may only be made on a temporary basis and in response to exceptional circumstances.

Subject to the limits laid down in the investment restrictions, financial derivative instruments and techniques may be used for hedging purposes and in order to improve the performance of the sub-fund.

In particular, the sub-fund may use call and put options and/or forward contracts on transferable securities, interest rates, currencies and indices (volatility indices in particular) and other financial instruments such as swap agreements traded over-the-counter or on regulated markets (e.g. CFDs or TRSs).

Warrants present an increased risk due to their volatility and may therefore impact the net asset value per share of the sub-funds concerned.

The political and economic situation in the emerging countries presents a greater investment risk which may be reflected in the sub-fund’s performance. This risk may be linked, for example, to restrictions on the repatriation of funds, market volatility or the illiquidity of investments, depending on the market conditions of the emerging country concerned.

Moreover, certain markets in the emerging countries do not at this stage offer the same quality, maturity and, consequently, security as the large international exchanges in the developed countries. It follows that securities transactions and their custody may prove less reliable.

Risk Profile of the Sub-Fund

The risk profile of the Sub-Fund is similar to that of a portfolio invested in a diversified manner in listed shares of Asian issuers. The fund therefore has average volatility equivalent to the benchmark index.

Investors should refer to the Full Prospectus for further information on the risks involved in investing in the Sub-Fund. In addition, as the investments of the Sub-Fund are subject to market fluctuations, the return to investors may be lower than the amount of their original investment.
