Nomura Funds Ireland - India Equity Fund

The investment objective of the Nomura Funds Ireland - India Equity Fund (the "Sub-Fund") is to achieve long-term capital growth through investment in an actively managed portfolio of Indian securities.

The Sub-Fund invests, under normal market conditions, primarily in equity and equity-related securities listed or traded on a recognised exchange in India. The Sub-Fund may invest in equity and equity-related securities listed or traded on any recognised exchange outside India provided that the business activities of the issuers of such securities are in India. The Sub-Fund may also hold exposure to India through investment in such instruments as American Depositary Receipts ("ADRs") and Global Depositary Receipts ("GDRs") and which may be listed on any recognised exchange outside India.

It is anticipated that the Sub-Fund will invest across the entire range of capitalisations (from small cap to large cap).

The Sub-Fund is considered to be actively managed in reference to the MSCI India Index (the "Index") by virtue of the fact that it uses the Index for performance comparison purposes. However, the Index is not used to define the portfolio composition of the Sub-Fund or as a performance target and the Sub-Fund may be wholly invested in securities which are not constituents of the Benchmark.

Nomura Funds Ireland - Japan Strategic Value Fund

The investment objective of the Nomura Funds Ireland - Japan Strategic Value Fund (the "Sub-Fund") is to achieve long-term capital growth through investment in a portfolio of Japanese equity securities.

The Sub-Fund invests, under normal market conditions, primarily in equity and equity-related securities listed or traded on a recognised exchange in Japan. The Sub-Fund may invest up to 30% of its net assets in equity and equity-related securities listed or traded on any recognised exchange outside Japan, provided that the business activities of the issuers of such securities are in Japan. It is anticipated that the Sub-Fund will invest across the entire range of capitalisations (from small cap to large cap).

The Sub-Fund seeks to identify equity and equity-related securities, whose valuations are, in the opinion of the Sub-Investment Manager, low in comparison to assets and profitability, and which may be expected to rise in the future. In addition to these valuation opportunities, the Sub-Fund seeks investments based on other strategic features as detailed below:

a) equity and equity-related securities where changes to financial conditions, such as changes in operations, strategy and dividend and share buy-back policies, are expected;

b) equity and equity-related securities where potential for growth has been identified, including improved results and increasing market share, as new business operations are developed and the underlying economy improves; and

c) equity and equity-related securities relating to companies that have been identified as candidates for business restructuring, corporate governance reform or attractive merger and acquisition opportunities.

The Sub-Fund is considered to be actively managed in reference to the TOPIX Index (the "Index") by virtue of the fact that it uses the Index for performance comparison purposes. However, the Index is not used to define the portfolio composition of the Sub-Fund or as a performance target and the Sub-Fund may be wholly invested in securities which are not constituents of the Benchmark.

The Sub-Fund is managed so as to maintain a near fully invested position, other than during periods where the Investment Manager believes that a larger cash position is warranted.

Nomura Funds Ireland - US High Yield Bond Fund

The investment objective of the Nomura Funds Ireland - US High Yield Bond Fund (the "Sub-Fund") is to achieve current yield and capital gains, through investment in a diversified portfolio of primarily high yielding US Dollar denominated debt and debt-related securities issued principally by companies in the United States and Canada.

The Sub-Fund may invest in debt and debt-related securities issued by United States or non-United States corporations, limited liability companies or limited partnerships and other forms of enterprise.

The Sub-Fund may hold equity and equity-related securities that it receives in connection with its ownership of certain debt and debt-related securities, such as defaulted high yield securities in the course of reorganisation which are subsequently converted into equity and equity-related securities.

Under normal circumstances, the Sub-Fund invests at least 80% of its net assets in debt and debt-related securities that are rated below investment grade by at least one rating agency or are unrated.

No more than 30% of the Sub-Fund's net assets may be invested in debt and debt-related securities with a rating of lower than B3/B- by both Moody's and S&P, respectively or which are deemed to be of equivalent quality by the Investment Manager.

The Sub-Fund may invest up to 25% of its net assets in debt and debt-related securities issued by companies, governments or governmental agencies in countries other than the United States or Canada.

No more than 5% of the Sub-Fund's net assets may be invested in the debt and debt-related securities of any one issuer and no more than 25% of the Sub-Fund's net assets may be invested in debt and debt-related securities in any one industry. The Sub-Fund may invest up to 20% of its net assets in debt and debt-related securities not denominated in US Dollar.

The Sub-Fund is considered to be actively managed in reference to the ICE Bank of America Merrill Lynch US High Yield Constrained Index (the "Index") by virtue of the fact that it uses the Index for performance comparison purposes. Certain of the Sub-Fund's securities may be components of and may have similar weightings to the Index. However, the Sub-Fund may deviate significantly from the Index and the Investment Manager may use its discretion to invest in companies or sectors not included in the Index.

A change in Index proposed by the Directors will be subject to shareholder approval and disclosure in a revised supplement for the Sub-Fund.

Nomura Funds Ireland - Japan High Conviction Fund

The investment objective of the Nomura Funds Ireland - Japan High Conviction Fund (the "Sub-Fund") is to achieve long-term capital growth through investment in a concentrated, actively managed portfolio of Japanese equity securities.

The Sub-Fund shall invest, under normal market conditions, primarily in equity and equity-related securities listed or traded on a recognised exchange in Japan.

The Sub-Fund may invest up to 20% of its net assets in equity and equity-related securities listed or traded on any recognised exchange outside Japan, provided that the business activities of the issuers of such securities are in Japan. It is anticipated that the Sub-Fund will invest across the entire range of capitalisations (from small cap to large cap).

The Sub-Fund is considered to be actively managed in reference to the TOPIX Index (the "Index") by virtue of the fact that it uses the Index for performance comparison purposes. However, the Index is not used to define the portfolio composition of the Sub-Fund or as a performance target and the Sub-Fund may be wholly invested in securities which are not constituents of the Benchmark.

Investors should note that due to the highly concentrated nature of the portfolio, the Sub-Fund is likely to have a high annualised volatility.

Nomura Funds Ireland - Asia Ex Japan High Conviction Fund

The investment objective of the Nomura Funds Ireland - Asia Ex Japan High Conviction Fund (the "Sub-Fund") is to achieve long-term capital growth through investment in a concentrated, actively managed portfolio of Asian (excluding Japan) equity securities.

The Sub-Fund may invest up to 30% of its net assets in equity and equity-related securities listed or traded on any recognised exchange in non-Index Countries, provided that the business activities of the issuers of such securities are in the Index Countries.

The Sub-Fund may also hold exposure to the Index Countries through investment in such instruments as American Depositary Receipts ("ADRs"), Global Depositary Receipts ("GDRs") or Non-Voting Depositary Receipts ("NVDRs") and which may be listed on any recognised exchange in a non-Index Country. It is anticipated that the Sub-Fund will invest across the entire range of capitalisations (from small cap to large cap).

The Fund is considered to be actively managed in reference to the MSCI All Countries Asia Ex Japan Index (total return with net dividends reinvested) (the "Benchmark") by virtue of the fact that it seeks to outperform the Benchmark. While certain of the Fund's securities may be components of and may have similar weightings to the Benchmark, the Investment Manager will use its discretion to invest in securities or sectors not included in the Benchmark in order to take advantage of investment opportunities. The investment strategy does not restrict the extent to which the Fund's holdings may deviate from the Benchmark and deviations may be material. This is likely to increase the extent to which the Fund can outperform or underperform the Benchmark.

Investors should note that due to the general nature of Asian markets, and the highly concentrated nature of the portfolio, the Sub-Fund is likely to have a high annualised volatility.

Nomura Funds Ireland - Global Sustainable High Yield Bond Fund

The investment objective of the Nomura Funds Ireland - Global Sustainable High Yield Bond Fund (the "Sub-Fund") is sustainable investment to achieve current yield and capital gains through investment in a diversified portfolio of primarily high yielding debt and debt-related securities issued in the United States or major Eurobond developed markets.

The Sub-Fund shall invest in a diversified portfolio of primarily high yielding debt and debt-related securities issued in developed markets principally by companies, which are listed or traded on a recognised exchange and which constitute sustainable investments. Investors should note that high yielding securities generally have a high volatility.

The Sub-Fund may invest in debt and debt-related securities issued by corporations, limited liability companies or limited partnerships, other forms of enterprise and in sovereign and quasi-sovereign debt and debt-related securities.

The Sub-Fund may hold equity and equity-related securities, which may or may not be listed or traded on a recognised exchange, that it receives or purchases in connection with its ownership of certain debt and debt-related securities, such as defaulted high yield securities in the course of reorganisation which are subsequently converted into equity and equity-related securities.

Under normal circumstances, the Sub-Fund will invest at least 80% of its net assets in debt and debt-related securities that are rated below investment grade by at least one rating agency or are unrated. No more than 30% of the Sub-Fund's net assets may be invested in debt and debt-related securities with a rating lower than B3/B - by both Moody's and S&P, respectively or which are deemed to be of equivalent quality by the Investment Manager.

Subject to Section 2.1 of Appendix 1 to the Prospectus, the Sub-Fund may invest up to 10% of its net assets in loans, loan participations and/or loan assignments, which constitute transferable securities or money market instruments.

No more than 5% of the Sub-Fund's net assets may be invested in the debt and debt-related securities of any one issuer and no more than 25% of the Sub-Fund's net assets may be invested in debt and debt-related securities in any one industry (as defined by reference to ICE BofA Level 4 Industry Classification which comprises a detailed sector classification for constituents of the ICE BofA global fixed income universe).

The Sub-Fund is considered to be actively managed in reference to the ICE BofA Developed Markets High Yield Constrained (the "Index") by virtue of the fact that it uses the Index for performance comparison purposes. Certain of the Sub-Fund's securities may be components of and may have similar weightings to the Index. However, the Sub-Fund may deviate significantly from the Index and the Investment Manager may use its discretion to invest in companies or sectors not included in the Index.

The Sub-Fund seeks to achieve its sustainable investment objective by investing in debt and debt-related securities of issuers that contribute to the sustainable development of society and/or the environment and which also provide attractive return.

The Sub-Fund may also employ spot foreign exchange transactions, forward foreign exchange contracts and currency futures to seek to hedge the foreign exchange exposure of the assets of the Sub-Fund from the impact of fluctuations in the relevant exchange rates.

Nomura Funds Ireland - Global Dynamic Bond Fund

The investment objective of the Nomura Funds Ireland - Global Dynamic Bond Fund (the "Sub-Fund") is to provide a combination of income and growth through investing principally in debt and debt-related securities with fixed or variable rates of income.

The Sub-Fund shall invest principally in debt and debt-related securities with fixed or variable (linked to inflation or other indices) rates of income, issued by corporations, limited liability companies, limited partnerships, sovereign, government agencies, supranational or other issuers, which are listed or traded on recognised exchanges. In addition to direct investment in debt and debt-related securities, the Sub-Fund may also gain exposure to debt and debt-related securities indirectly through investment in financial derivative instruments.

There are no geographical restrictions as to the debt and debt-related securities that may be held, but a maximum of 30% of the Net Asset Value of the Sub-Fund may be invested in debt and debt-related securities of emerging market issuers.

The Sub-Fund may invest either in investment grade or sub-investment grade debt and debt-related securities, which have been rated as such by at least one rating agency (either Standard & Poors or Moody's). The Sub-Fund may also invest up to 30% of its Net Asset Value in unrated securities (which are not rated by a rating agency), if the Investment Manager determines that the security is of comparable quality to a rated security that the Sub-Fund may purchase.

Subject to Section 2.1 of Appendix 1 to the Prospectus, the Sub-Fund may invest up to 10% of its net assets in loans, loan participations and/or loan assignments, which constitute transferable securities or money market instruments.

With the exception of equity options and equity index options no investment shall be made in equity securities provided, however, that equity securities up to 10% of the Net Asset Value may be held as a result of investments in preferred securities, which have equity/warrant characteristics or as a result of acquisitions of equity securities upon conversion or exercise of convertible bonds.

The Sub-Fund is actively managed without reference to any benchmark meaning that the Investment Manager has full discretion over the composition of the Sub-Fund's portfolio, subject to the stated investment objectives and policies of the Sub-Fund.

Nomura Funds Ireland - Emerging Market Local Currency Debt Fund

The investment objective of the Nomura Funds Ireland - Emerging Market Local Currency Debt Fund (the "Sub-Fund") is to generate a total return through a combination of capital gains and income gains.

The Sub-Fund seeks to achieve its objective principally by investing in local currency denominated emerging debt and debtrelated securities and derivative instruments comprising forward currency contracts, non-deliverable forward contracts ("NDFs"), futures, interest rate swaps, cross currency swaps, credit default swaps, FX options and interest rate options. The Sub-Fund may, without limitation, also invest in non-local currency denominated emerging debt and debt-related securities and non-emerging debt and debt-related securities.

The Sub-Fund may invest in debt and debt-related securities issued by corporations, limited liability companies or limited partnerships and other forms of enterprise, and in sovereign, quasi-sovereign and supranational bonds which are listed or traded on a recognised exchange.

The Sub-Fund will not invest in debt and debt-related securities rated below B3 or B- by Moody's or S&P respectively. If any debt and debt-related securities are downgraded, then they will be held within the portfolio until upgraded, or, disposed of within 6 months, if not upgraded. The Sub-Fund may purchase unrated securities (which are not rated by a rating agency) if the Investment Manager determines that the security is of comparable quality to a rated security that the Sub-Fund may purchase. Unrated securities may be less liquid than comparable rated securities and involve the risk that the Investment Manager may not accurately evaluate the security's comparative credit rating.

No investment shall be made in equity securities provided, however, equity securities up to 10% of the Net Asset Value may be held as a result of investments in hybrid preferred securities which have equity/warrant characteristics or as a result of acquisitions of equity securities upon conversion or exercise of convertible bonds or upon allotments to the bondholders.

The Sub-Fund is considered to be actively managed in reference to the JPMorgan GBI-EM Global Diversified Composite Unhedged USD Index (the "Index") by virtue of the fact that it uses the Index for performance comparison purposes. Certain of the Sub-Fund's securities may be components of and may have similar weightings to the Index. However, the Sub-Fund may deviate materially from the Index and the Investment Manager may use its discretion to invest in companies or sectors not included in the Index.

It is anticipated that the Sub-Fund will invest across the entire range of capitalisations (from small cap to large cap).

The Sub-Fund may also invest in "A" shares of companies in the PRC. "A" Shares of companies in the PRC are shares denominated in Renminbi (the official currency of the PRC) and issued by companies in the PRC and listed on PRC stock exchanges.

The Sub-Fund may also invest from time to time in debt and debt-related securities issued by corporations, financial institutions, limited liability companies or limited partnerships, other forms of enterprise and in sovereign and quasi-sovereign debt and debt-related securities, which are listed or traded on a recognised exchange. Such debt and debt-related securities will be rated investment grade (BBB) by at least one rating agency (either Standard & Poors or Moody's).

While certain debt and debt-related securities (i.e. convertible bonds) and equity and equity-related securities (i.e. convertible shares) may embed a derivative component (such as an option, which would give the holder the option to buy the underlying asset at a predetermined price), they will not embed any leverage.

The Sub-Fund is considered to be actively managed in reference to the MSCI China Index (the "Index") by virtue of the fact that it uses the Index for performance comparison purposes. Certain of the Sub-Fund's securities may be components of and may have similar weightings to the Index. However, the Sub-Fund may deviate significantly from the Index and the Investment Manager may use its discretion to invest in companies or sectors not included in the Index.

Nomura Funds Ireland - Global High Conviction Fund

The investment objective of the Nomura Funds Ireland - Global High Conviction Fund (the "Sub-Fund") is to achieve long-term capital growth through investment in a concentrated, actively managed portfolio of global equity securities.

The Sub-Fund shall invest, under normal market conditions, primarily (at least 65% of net assets) in equity and equity-related securities listed or traded on a recognised exchange in the countries covered by the MSCI All Country World Index (the "Index Countries").

The Sub-Fund may also invest from time to time in equity and equity-related securities listed or traded on a recognised exchange in a Non-Index Country, when market opportunities so arise.

The Sub-Fund may invest in equity and equity-related securities (such as convertible securities) with embedded derivative instruments. While these securities may embed a derivative element, (such as an option, which would give the holder the option to buy the underlying asset at a predetermined price), they will not embed any leverage.

It is anticipated that the Sub-Fund will invest on a long-only basis across a range of capitalisations but generally this will be from medium cap to high cap. There is no particular industry / sector focus to the Sub-Fund's investments.

The Sub-Fund will be highly concentrated in that it will own approximately 20 stocks and aims to generate a higher excess return than is available from a more diversified portfolio. Investors should note that due to the highly concentrated nature of the portfolio, the Sub-Fund is likely to have a higher annualised absolute volatility than a more diversified portfolio. Annualised volatility can be described as the distribution of periodic returns recalculated in such a way to show the level of volatility as if over a one year period. A more concentrated portfolio is likely to experience higher volatility of returns than a less concentrated portfolio as the impact on portfolio returns from the movement in one holding will, by definition, be higher when the weight of that holding within the portfolio is higher.

The Sub-Fund is considered to be actively managed in reference to the Index by virtue of the fact that it uses the Index for performance comparison purposes. Certain of the Sub-Fund's securities may be components of and may have similar weightings to the Index. However, the Sub-Fund may deviate materially from the Index and the Investment Manager may use its discretion to invest in companies or sectors not included in the Index.

The Sub-Fund may invest in equity and equity-related securities (such as convertible securities) with embedded derivative instruments. While these securities may embed a derivative element, (such as an option, which would give the holder the option to buy the underlying asset at a predetermined price), they will not embed any leverage.

Investors should note that due to the relatively concentrated nature of the Sub-Fund, the Sub-Fund is likely to have a higher annualised volatility than a more diversified portfolio.

The Sub-Fund is considered to be actively managed in reference to the MSCI All Country World Index (the "Index") by virtue of the fact that it uses the Index for performance comparison purposes. The Sub-Fund may hold up to 10% of net assets in debt and debt-related securities, which are listed or traded on debt and debtrelated securities, that it receives or purchases in connection with its ownership of certain equity and equity-related securities and accordingly, holding such debt and debt-related securities will be as a result of investment in equity and equity-related securities. This occurs in circumstances where the Sub-Fund has purchased equity and equity-related securities which have subsequently been subject to a corporate action which results in the issuance of debt and debt-related securities. These debt and debt-related securities are held by the Sub-Fund until they can be sold at a price which the Investment Manager believes reflects the underlying value of the security. Such debt and debt-related securities will be issued by corporations, limited liability companies or limited partnerships, other forms of enterprise (such as state owned enterprises) and sovereign and quasi-sovereign entities and may be rated either investment grade or non-investment grade by at least one rating agency (such as Moody's, Standard and Poors, Fitch or Rating and Investment Information Inc.).

The Sub-Fund may invest up to 30% of net assets in emerging market countries at any given time.

The Investment Manager will select sustainable investments which contribute directly or indirectly to achieving the "Impact Goals". The strategy seeks to identify those companies that have the greatest positive total impact on all stakeholders of the company.

Performance Commentary

For the six months ended 30th June, 2024, the Sub-Fund returned 15.55% compared with the benchmark return of 16.90%, thereby underperforming the benchmark by 1.35%.

Key negative contributors were underweight in Bharti Airtel (Communication Services), which is among India's leading telecom companies. We were wary of ability of telecom companies to take price hikes in an election year. However, the companies did manage to take some price increases and in spite of being expensive, the stock continued to fare well partly due to rerating and on good operational delivery.

Our underweight in Utilites detracted from the Sub-Fund as well as the State owned companies in the sector were sharply rerated amid domestic retail investor participation and an uptick in investments in the sector. We did not own names such as Power Grid, which did well. In addition, Adani Group names bounced back to an extent after sharply underperforming last year.

Our stocks selection in the private sector financials were a drag, as regulatory scrutiny of the sector increased and investor preference shifted to broader markets. AU Small Finance Bank, IndusInd Bank and IIFL were impacted by regulatory measures regarding some of their products.

Meanwhile, our significant exposure in Real Estate helped as the sector was among the largest positive contributors. The sector remains in the midst of an upcycle. On the supply side, the sector continues to see consolidation in favour of the organized players. On the demand side, companies are reporting double digit growth in pre-sales and select markets are also seeing price increases. Affordability remains at multi year lows eve factoring in some increase in interest rates. Our positions in residential real estate majors Macrotech Developers and SignatureGlobal have added value to the Sub-Fund.

Our underweight in Information Technology added value as the sector continues to report weak demand trends with a lot of demand having been pushed ahead post Covid.

Stock selection in Consumer Staples helped with the Sub-Fund performance as well. The sector is still hurting from the Covid impact on rural incomes and reporting weak volume growth trends. Our underweight added value. Within the sector, owning Hindustan Unilever is a positive contributor as the stock's continued proactive approach towards product innovation and distribution enhancement provides a more sustainable competitive edge over peers. The company has delivered best-in-class operational performance in recent years (pre-Covid-19) and has a sound business model (high on innovation, superior GTM capabilities, future ready, digital excellence). Having Varun Beverages helped too as the stock saw earnings upgrades on the back of new product and launches and expanding geographical reach.

Investment Outlook

On the macro economic front, India remains well placed. CPI inflation for June was reported at 5.1% a shade higher than the RBI's 4% target but not alarmingly so. Domestic interest rate cycle should follow the US Fed and we could expect rate cuts late this year or the next. Sowing for the summer crop has started on a positive note with the area of agricultural land sown up 33% (yoy). External indicators remain healthy – the Current Account Deficit for financial year 2024 was 0.7% of GDP and RBI's foreign exchange reserves were US$654 billion at the end of June.

Domestic equity investors have bought over US$ 28 billion year to date, continuing to provide ample liquidity in the markets, even as foreign equity investors dither to an extent on the equity side. Foreign investor flow year to date in equities has been only marginally positive while they have bought over US$ 8 billion in the debt markets. We have seen a fair amount of capital raisings and secondary selldowns as well in the market which have fed investor appetite.

The Indian market saw the outcome of the long election process in June. Contrary to expectations, although the results favoured Modi, they failed to deliver the expected simple majority that the BJP alone was expected to achieve or an overwhelming majority for the NDA coalition. With such a close result, the outcome did create a flutter of volatility in the market; but ultimately, the prospect of a stable government with an ability to last out a five-year term with Modi as the Prime Minister was enough to bring about a swift recovery and a further upsurge in the markets. Sentiment even swung back to euphoric levels. With the all-important election outcome, the biggest risk to the Indian economy's strong growth momentum and market run up has been averted. Aside from the risk of some unforeseen policy error, it will be business as usual.

Overall, economic growth momentum remains strong and corporate earnings for the next two years are at around 15% CAGR, underpinning the market PER valuation of 23.9 (MSCI India 1-year forward PER). There will surely be a drawdown in this market from some level, but India does still offer the best long-term large and structural growth story with an enormous number of investment opportunities.

Performance Commentary

For the six months ended 30th June, 2024, the Sub-Fund returned 22.34% compared with the benchmark return of 20.14%, thereby outperforming the benchmark by 2.20%.

During the six-month review period, the yen continued to depreciate and weakened by 14% (from 141 to 160.9 against the US dollar) mainly due to continuing wide interest rate differentials between the two currencies.

Summary of the first quarter of 2024

The TOPIX Index (total return base) gained 18.1% in local currency terms over the quarter and the yen depreciated by 7.4% against the US dollar (weakening from 141 to 151.4). The portfolio gained 20.5% (gross of fees), outperforming the TOPIX Index Return index by 2.4% for this review period.

In terms of style-based performance, the Russell Nomura Total Value (RNTV) index rose 22.9%, outperforming the TOPIX Index return index by 4.7%.

In terms of sectors, automobiles, financials, and real estate outperformed. The automobile sector is seen to benefit from the depreciation of the yen, while the financial sector is expected to benefit from higher interest rates resulting from changes in the Bank of Japan's ("BOJ") monetary policy. Real estate is negatively impacted by rising interest rates. However, the sector outperformed because the market had already factored in news that the BOJ had unwound its negative interest rate settings at the monetary policy meeting on 19th March.

The Tokyo Stock Exchange's initiative to increase corporate value made it clear that the exchange expects listed companies with share prices that are trading below their book value (PBR of less than 1.0) to improve ROE levels by improving capital efficiency. Such efforts, including share buybacks and dividend increases, could generate significant tailwinds for the value style investment approach.

Summary of the second quarter of 2024

The TOPIX Index (total return base) gained 1.7% in local currency terms over the quarter, and the yen depreciated by 6.3% against the US dollar (weakening from 151.4 to 160.9) over the quarter. The portfolio rose 1.8% (gross of fees), outperforming the TOPIX Index by 0.1%.

In terms of style-based performance, the Russell Nomura Total Value Index rose 2.8% over the quarter, outperforming the TOPIX Index by 1.1%.

In terms of sector performance, financial sector firms including banks and insurance companies rallied. The sector benefited from rising long-term interest rates, which surpassed the 1% level for the first time in 11 years. The marine transportation sector also advanced due to intensifying geopolitical tensions and deteriorating logistics conditions. On the other hand, automobile stocks fell due to conservative guidance issued by management. The real estate sector also fell as rising interest rates could become a concern for earnings.

Investment Outlook

We expect the Japanese economy to continue growing at a moderate pace. Looking ahead, we forecast improvements in real wage growth, which has been lagging behind until now amid accelerating inflation. Household income gains have come mainly due from the effect of wage hikes thanks to the annual spring labour union negotiations as well as the contribution from a flat-rate tax cut implemented in June. There were 3.1 million international visitors to Japan in June, exceeding the three million mark for a fourth consecutive month. Strong inbound consumption and expectations for a recovery in consumer spending are expected to support the domestic economy going forward. At its June Monetary Policy Meeting, the Bank of Japan decided to reduce its purchases of Japanese government bonds, and at the next meeting in July it will present concrete monetary policy plans for the next one to two years. Taking Japanese and US political calendars into account as well as the risk that recent currency depreciation will lead to a resurgence in inflation, we have maintained our outlook for an additional interest rate hike in July. We forecast Japan's real GDP growth rate to be 0.1% (yoy) in 2024.

During 2024, we can expect a phase of increased stock market volatility as investors react to economic indicators and geopolitical developments from the US and other countries. However, we believe that this could be a good investment environment for value style opportunities, which focus on stock prices and corporate value, while a strategy of seeking Japanese companies with stable performance trends over the medium to long term looks promising.

Against this backdrop, we will continue to focus on companies with "enabling technologies" capable of supporting social and structural changes including semiconductor related names, companies with exposure to DX (digital transformation) and the reduction of greenhouse gases, as well as companies that are expected to benefit from the full recovery of domestic economic activity. We will also look for companies with strong competitive positions and high profitability that will give them the ability to strengthen their shareholder returns. Crucially, we aim to maximise potential upside by investing in stocks when their valuations are most attractive.

The Sub-Fund seeks out investment opportunities across the market and hence its sector allocation is purely an aggregation of its stock choices. With this in mind, at the end of June, the portfolio held overweight positions in Information & Communication, Banks, and Construction. Its largest sector underweights were Machinery, Services, and Transportation Equipment.

Considering the investment environment described above, we aim to review our stock holdings based on undervaluation from earnings and asset perspectives, focusing on the following factors:

(1) Changes in corporate financial position, policies taken to improve shareholder returns;

(2) Competitive advantage, growth potential, and management reform.

In particular, we are focusing on companies that are expected to improve shareholder returns against a backdrop of profitability supported by superior competitive strength, companies with technologies that can support social and industrial change in areas such as semiconductor production and digital transformation, and companies for which earnings performance is expected to recover due to normalization of economic activity following the pandemic.

According to the Nomura Securities Financial & Economic Research Centre, corporate earnings for the fiscal year ending March 2025 are expected to rise by 4.6% (yoy) based on forecasts as of 28th June, 2024 for the Russell/Nomura Large Cap Index, excluding financials and on a consolidated basis. Nomura's corporate earnings growth forecast for financial year 2025 (ending March 2026) indicates a continuing earnings recovery, with growth of 8.6% in terms of recurring profits.

As for valuations, the market PBR was 1.46 at the end of June. The earnings yield (i.e. earnings per share/stock price) was 6.10%. The expected dividend yield is 2.21%, which is higher than the long-term interest rate (10-year JGB yield) of 1.04%. (*Source: Nomura Research Institute, based on the TOPIX).

Performance Commentary

For the six months ended 30th June, 2024, the Sub-Fund returned 2.27% compared with the benchmark return of 2.60%, and therefore underperformed the benchmark by -0.33%.

Portfolio performance in the first quarter was driven by strong sector allocation, dampened somewhat by idiosyncratic credit events. Sectors that contributed the most to positive relative performance included Restaurants, Gas Distribution, and Recreation & Travel. Outperformance in Restaurants was driven by our overweight in Carrols Restaurant Group, a fast food chain operator, which gained as the company was acquired by Burger King. In Gas Distribution, Plains All American reported Q4 earnings that beat expectations, while Summit Midstream announced a credit-positive asset sale. In Recreation & Travel, our overweight in Carrols Restaurants included Health Services, Cable & Satellite TV, and Specialty Retail. The most significant detractor in Cable was Charter, which was negatively impacted by headlines that the company was considering a takeover of Altice USA, which could increase the leverage in its capital structure above a threshold considered critical by ratings agencies. We modestly reduced our exposure during the quarter, reflecting our more conservative view of the cable industry, and our positioning is generally slightly higher quality than the index.

Portfolio relative performance in the second quarter was boosted by positive security selection in the higher credit quality segments of the market, while lower credit quality exposure lagged. Sectors that contributed the most to positive relative performance included Wireline Telecom, Satellite Telecom, and our overweight in Oil Field Equipment & Services. In Wireline Telecom, Altice France bonds rallied in June as cooperation agreements for both the secured and crossholder groups were finalized, and bondholders looked to accumulate positions. In addition, Telecom Italia completed an exchange of bonds across its capital structure in May, and the new bonds traded well. In Satellites, Intelsat announced its acquisition by SES in late April, and re-org equity from its 2020 restructuring traded up on the news. Outside of these sectors, Chemical producer Trinseo detracted slightly in June but contributed to performance for the quarter, as the broader sector benefited from a recovering industry backdrop. 2023 was a difficult year due to inventory destocking, but in 2024 demand has finally stabilized, and we expect improvement in the coming quarters. Key sector detractors included Pharmaceuticals, Specialty Retail, and Health Services. In Pharmaceuticals, Bausch bonds rallied after the consummation of a cooperation agreement between bondholders in early May, but we have maintained our underweight, given uncertainties around the company's plans to spin out its eye business and concerns around liability management the company may undertake. In Specialty Retail, we continued to underweight Carvana, and this posture detracted amid a rally in the bonds as the company reported unexpectedly strong earnings and reaffirmed its outlook. In Health Services, medical supply distributor Owens & Minor has rallied meaningfully since October, but dipped late in the quarter as recent research indicated GLP-1 drugs may significantly reduce obstructive sleep apnea (OSA) and impact demand for OSA treatments and devices.

Investment Outlook

Looking forward, whether growth can remain stable is a key question, along with inflation and whether the Fed can begin to normalize interest rates. Late in the month, Treasuries sold off as President Biden's poor debate performance was seen as increasing the likelihood of a Trump victory in November, which is viewed as potentially inflationary. While this outcome is a possibility, there are many scenarios surrounding the election, fiscal and monetary policy to consider. In general, we do expect continued disinflation, which should allow for one to two Fed cuts in 2024 and more next year, while the roughly 8% yield on the US high yield market creates a good foundation for an attractive total return.

Performance Commentary

For the six months ended 30th June, 2024, the Sub-Fund returned 5.68% compared with the benchmark return of 20.14%, thereby underperforming the benchmark by 14.46%.

January-March: Market environment

The Japanese stock market rallied significantly during the first quarter, mainly due to active buying by overseas investors. The US economy was stronger than expected, and market participants sought out value stocks on the back of expectations that the Federal Reserve would postpone interest rate cuts and that Japanese companies would improve their capital efficiency.

January-March: Positive contributions

Tokyo Electron's stock price rose due to buying pressure on semiconductor-related stocks following expectations for generative AI. Fast Retailing rallied thanks to steady market sentiment regarding its corporate earnings results and broad purchases of large-cap stocks.

January-March: Negative contributions

M3's stock price fell due to a delayed recovery in its pharmaceutical marketing business and a bidding war with Dai-ichi Life over Benefit One, while Unicharm's stock price fell due to concerns about deteriorating personal consumption and intensifying price competition.

January-March: Transactions

NOF Corporation manufactures a wide range of innovative products including those related to functional materials, chemicals, nutraceuticals, life sciences, and rust prevention. We opened a new position in the company due to expectations for the growth potential of raw materials for use in drug delivery system pharmaceutical preparations.

Meanwhile, although Shimano still maintains a competitive edge in the global market as a manufacturer of bicycle parts, we expect to see a significant decline in profits for the second consecutive fiscal year due to the high base effect from the pandemic. We exited our position after the company's ROE levels deteriorated to roughly around the 5% level. Shimano was delisted by the Growth Stock Committee. We also closed our position in Pigeon. The declining birth rate outpaced expectations and market growth is unavoidably slowing as a result. The company's growth potential also declined significantly as expanding sales volume of skin care products could not compensate for falling sales of baby bottles. It has become apparent that ROE levels would continue to decline. Finally, we also liquidated our position in Katitas. Although the company had achieved growth through a unique business model of renovating and flipping residential real estate, its growth potential has deteriorated due to intensifying competition with new housing manufacturers and rising construction material costs. We believe it will be difficult to stop falling ROE levels, which had been high at more than 20%.

April-June: Market environment

The stock market was more or less flat during the quarter, reflecting the global interest rate environment. Value stocks rose noticeably due to proactive shareholder returns by Japanese companies and an increase in domestic long-term interest rates.

NOMURA FUNDS IRELAND - JAPAN HIGH CONVICTION FUND INVESTMENT MANAGER'S REPORT (CONTINUED) For the half year ended 30th June, 2024

April-June: Positive contributions

Recruit Holdings and Itochu added value to the portfolio. Recruit's stock price rose due to improved profitability through cost reductions and increased shareholder returns, while Itochu rallied due to a high level of cash flow generation and leeway for greater shareholder returns.

April-June: Negative contributions

Positions in M3 and GMO Payment Gateway detracted from the relative portfolio performance. M3 retreated due to a delay in the recovery of its pharmaceutical marketing business and GMO Payment Gateway fell due to an absence of positive catalysts despite its solid business performance.

April-June: Transactions

We took the following action to manage the transition to a new portfolio manager:

(1) Made sure there was no deviation from the portfolio's emphasis on stocks that maintain high ROE levels, which is the basis of our strategy;

(2) Made sure that we will be able to take measures such as holding stocks while monitoring and reviewing changes in price trends and portfolio weights, even when the company is able to maintain high ROE levels on average;

(3) Confirmed that we will be able to expand investment options for ROE improvement stocks.

In light of this, we added a new position in Toyota Motor; its profitability has improved due to strong performance from hybrid vehicles and continuous cost reduction efforts. The company's ROE levels have improved to double digits. The Growth Stock Committee approved this company in March and we added it to the portfolio in April. We also added a new position in Hitachi. In the past, structural reforms such as reorganising its low-profit businesses drove its performance; however, we bought the stock based on expectations that the spread of AI will lead to a phase of accelerated growth centered on its IT and energy businesses. Finally, we also added a new position in Tokio Marine. Its ROE has improved due to growth in its overseas insurance business, and we included it as a "transformational stock." Tokio Marine aims to halve its cross shareholdings in the next three years and eliminate them by 2030.

Meanwhile, we exited the positions in M3, MonotaRO, and Nihon M&A Center Holdings after they were delisted by the Growth Stock Committee. M3 had experienced slowing growth potential of its pharmaceutical marketing operation, which is its mainstay high-profit business. This has resulted in continually declining ROE levels. Although MonotaRO offers the convenience of internet-based indirect materials sales, its growth rate had been noticeably slowing and its ROE levels have decreased significantly from the 30% level. Finally, we lost confidence in Nihon M&A Center's medium- to long-term growth potential following reputational damage to its brand value caused by scandals and high turnover of core human resources.

Investment Outlook

We expect the TOPIX to fluctuate in a range between 2,480-3,140 points over the next quarter and for the equity market to remain range-bound for the time being with upward trends in the second half of the year.

For the January-March 2024 quarter, the TOPIX rose to a level exceeding the pace of fundamentals-based earnings growth. Accordingly, during the corporate results season from April to May when companies announce earnings for the fiscal year through March, there was a strong tendency for the market to respond to earnings announcements. As a result, the outlook for financial year 2024 remained cautious. Corporate earnings forecasts have mainly been conservative, with exchange rate assumptions for the current fiscal year in the 140-145 JPY/USD range; upward revisions to forecasts from quarter to quarter are highly likely.

At present, the TOPIX PER is around 16. Although this may seem expensive based on conventional interpretations, we believe this relatively high valuation is sustainable. Meanwhile, the share of companies that have signed up to the Tokyo Stock Exchange reform proposals (i.e. management commitments to consider cost of capital and stock prices) has increased to 63% of all companies listed on the TSE Prime Market. The TSE has a systematic monitoring policy and encourages firms to improve actual corporate management rather than introducing formal requirements. Therefore, this will be an ongoing process and it is unlikely in the near term that all of these initiatives will be completed and priced in.

In the short term there will be no major upswings in first-quarter earnings due to seasonality (labour and other costs are rising in proportion to sales), and we expect minimal stock price fluctuations in terms of earnings. In the automobile sector, which is an important bellwether in terms of overall profits, earnings momentum has been slowing due to the recovery in production last year and also in the wake of several product testing and certification scandals. This has a significant impact on aggregate market earnings. While the depreciating yen will contribute positively to earnings of export-oriented companies, the market consensus appears to be flagging some concern about the current yen weakness and the risk of a slowdown in domestic demand. This will make it difficult for positive catalysts to emerge in the near term. Therefore, while investors digest first-quarter earnings and the summer slump, we expect stock prices to adjust to the pace of earnings growth towards the second half of the year.

Performance Commentary

For the six months ended 30th June, 2024, the Sub-Fund returned 12.72% compared with the benchmark return of 9.75%, thereby outperforming the benchmark by 2.97%.

Both country allocation and stock selection added value. Our underweight positions in Hong Kong, Thailand, and overweight position in India contributed positively to our performance. Stock selection was led by positive outcomes in India, Korea, and Taiwan, outweighing the negative effects in Hong Kong.

Whichever direction the view on interest rates turns, as new data causes expectations to oscillate between no cuts, earlier cuts or later cuts, the US markets continue to scale new highs. During June, equities were again driven by the AI theme, with semiconductor stocks being the big gainers and leading the Nasdaq to fresh all-time highs alongside the S&P500. The economy's resilience held fast as GDP was again revised upwards, and it seems like these steep interest rate hikes have had far less impact than expected so far on the macro economy, households or the corporate sector. US corporate earnings have remained extremely robust and have managed to offset any disappointment that might come along. A slight weakening of employment data drove 10-year Treasury yields down a bit, but the range was quite narrow through the month of June. Strangely, the US dollar actually strengthened slightly, but that could be a function of the JPY, which continued to weaken and broke through the 160 mark, as well as the euro which has been vulnerable to political turnoil in the region. Oil was the only commodity that regained any life as the main benchmark prices rose. Emerging markets ended up having a very good month and this was in spite of the fact that China and Latin America were negative for the month. AI derivative markets of Taiwan and South Korea together with the election led rally in India contributed to big emerging market and Asian market gains.

Asia has seen contrasting behaviour amongst the various markets. The absolute absence of any trend or direction in the Chinese economy and markets persists, while expectations from investors again have been softened. There are low expectations for the upcoming policy meetings, and consumer confidence remains low with a faltering market recovery. Instead, it was all about Taiwan and Korea lately, with TSMC leading the semiconductor stocks and the AI narrative, while Korea has the added advantage of the "value up" policy trade too. India witnessed massive volatility in June in the wake of the election result, but ended on a very positive note.

In China, our overweight in Tencent contributed to our relative performance on the back of better than expected results and strong gross sales of its latest mobile game launch Dungeon Fighter. China Construction Bank also outperformed as high dividend yield stocks did well as China's 10-year bond yields fell, making the sector more attractive. Naura Technology reported strong earnings growth and its order book will support high earnings visibility over the next few quarters. Henan Pinggao also performed well. It will benefit from growth in China's grid capital spending and it is expected to receive more orders in the coming quarters. Tencent Music also performed well as the monetization outlook remains very strong, which will continue to drive earnings growth. On the other hand, Moutai underperformed as demand of baijiu liquor remains weak and wholesale prices fell. Focus Media fell on weaker-than-expected guidance due to corporate clients spending less on advertising.

In India, macroeconomic tailwinds continue to support the hospitality industry and underlying demand expected to continue to exceed supply. This is supporting a strong pricing outlook for Indian Hotels, which outperformed thanks to its robust underlying performance with strong growth in Average Room Rates (ARR), Occupancies, and Revenues per available room (RevPAR) aiding strong margin performance. Varun Beverages (VBL) continues to deliver a strong performance, well supported by double-digit volume growth and single digit pricing growth during the financial year 2024, the third quarter results. Volume growth drivers – distribution expansion, new products, scaling up of recent launches as well as newer geographic expansion with the acquisition of BevCo in South Africa. Macrotech Developers outperformed after benefitting from the infrastructure boom in India's Mumbai Metropolitan region. The Indian real estate developer's township in this city has attracted upper middle-income households. Management foresees townships evolving into hubs for premium housing and plans to launch multiple premium products in financial year 2025 at 40%-50% higher realization compared with current pricing. Tata Motors continued to deliver strong performance with strong free cash flow (FCF) generation underpinning management's commitment to deleveraging.

The Taiwan portfolio had a positive effect on our relative performance. Investor sentiment remained bullish going into the Computex event and AI narratives were also positive. Outperformance was driven largely by our overweight position in index heavyweight stocks like TSMC and Mediatek. Likewise, our overweight in Quanta helped performance as a beneficiary of AI server demand. The lack of a position in Hon Hai mitigated some of the positive performance.

In Korea, the overweight position in SK Hynix added value on expectations for more friendly shareholder return policies, such as increased dividend and share buy-backs due to the better operating environment for its semiconductor business. Hyundai Motor also added value on the back of resilient sales in its Hybrid and EV models. On the other hand, the overweight position in JYP Entertainment detracted from the performance due to a sales slowdown in its album sales from the second half of 2023. Naver underperformed as the post-IPO evaluation of its equity stake in Webtoon Entertainment (platformer of web-based manga) was below market expectations.

In ASEAN, Singapore had a positive effect on the overall portfolio. DBS contributed to the performance as the stock rallied after going ex-dividend in April, and the share price was further supported by its robust results for the first quarter of 2024. Conversely, our overweight exposure to Sembcorp Industries (SCI) detracted from the performance as the share price continued to be weighed down by the upcoming maintenance checks on its two plants and we anticipated softer results for the first half of 2024. Meanwhile, the Indonesia portfolio had a negative effect on the relative performance as stocks suffered on weaker rupiah. Malaysia was a positive contributor—our sole exposure, Frontken, outperformed alongside its main customer TSMC. The earnings outlook for Frontken remains promising, underpinned by rising utilization rates at its new Taiwan plant, where they are involved in cleaning leading edge components, a process that commands higher margins.

Investment Outlook

Globally, the US markets continue to melt up, with strong corporate earnings results compensating for any signs of softening economic data. Here is a market that continues to deliver better results with every passing period and where a virtuous cycle has evolved with an overwhelming presence in the global equity universe and a cushion of more than 6 trillion US dollars still sitting in the money markets. Admittedly, the markets have been lopsided, with the emergence of yet another star name, Nvidia, which has now surpassed all others to become the world's largest company in terms of market cap. As the elections approach, it could create a bit of volatility and some uncertainty with respect to policies, but currently it seems clear that there is no recession on the horizon and fundamentally nothing to shake up the markets. Other developed markets continue to look relatively far less attractive.

Asian markets are probably less homogenous than they have ever been, and it is all about thematic differences – AI in Taiwan, semiconductors and "value up" policies in Korea and unfortunately precious little of note in the smaller markets.

The big news and noise within Asia was the Indian market, which finally saw the outcome of the long election process. Contrary to expectations, although the results favoured Modi, they failed to deliver the expected simple majority that the BJP alone was expected to achieve or an overwhelming majority for the NDA coalition. With such a close result, the outcome did create a flutter of volatility in the market; but ultimately, the prospect of a stable government with an ability to last out a five-year term with Modi as the Prime Minister was enough to bring about a swift recovery and a further upsurge in the markets. Sentiment even swung back to euphoric levels. With the all-important election outcome, the biggest risk to the Indian economy's strong growth momentum and market run up has been averted. Aside from the risk of some unforeseen policy error, it should be business as usual. There will surely be a drawdown in this market from some level, but India does still offer the best long-term large and structural growth story with an enormous number of investment opportunities. We will keep our large overweight position. Again, we considered taking profits on Taiwanese stocks, which continue to ride the AI wave and now trade at historic valuations, but we prefer to rotate our holdings in favour of laggards. As mentioned above, the most challenging part of the Asian markets has been the disappointment from the smaller Asean markets. Indonesia has added to that weakness while Thailand continues to slide. The former has started to see earnings downgrades and with a change in policy direction, we have seen currency fragility reemerge. While valuations are cheaper, there are no near term catalysts and so we might look to reduce the long-standing overweight allocation. We see no light at the end of the tunnel yet for Thailand as political issues plague the economy and corporate earnings revisions remain negative. Malaysia has become one of the brighter spots in this region and after long, we have added a position here, albeit a more stock specific proxy to TSMC. The Korean market has continually offered thematic opportunities - it was cyclicals and EVs last year and the "value up" policy theme this year in addition to the recovery in the memory and the AI driven semiconductor stocks. The overall market has been dragged down by the weak currency and the heavyweight Samsung Electronics, but there are still opportunities there. We are overweight in Korea using the funding from the Asean markets. A rollover in AI/semiconductor/technology would be the biggest risk to the portfolio at this point in time.

Performance Commentary

For the six months ended 30th June, 2024, the Sub-Fund returned 0.65% compared with the benchmark return of 1.99%, and therefore underperformed the benchmark by -1.34%.

During the first quarter, our ratings allocation was a positive source of alpha as lower rated credit outperformed. We were slightly overweight BBs and underweight B-rated credits. However, security selection in CCCs detracted from relative results. Sectors that contributed to performance during the quarter included Software Services, Recreation & Travel, and the portfolio's underweight to Cable & Satellite TV. In Software, our avoidance of Atos, the highly levered French software and data giant, contributed positively to relative performance. In Recreation & Travel, our overweight in Carnival continued to trade well as bookings and demand remained strong. Sectors that detracted from performance included Wireline Telecom, Packaging, and Specialty Retail. In Wireline Telecom, our overweight in Altice France detracted from performance as the company reported somewhat disappointing earnings and guidance, but more importantly, completely changed the tone of their engagement with bondholders. The company is now looking to extract material haircuts from bondholders in order to deleverage its capital structure. In Packaging, Ardagh Finance traded lower as the company announced it hired advisors to conduct liability management to help reduce its debt. Finally, in Specialty Retail, Carvana reported better-than-expected earnings, while we continue to be underweight the name as we are cautious on the company's ability to be sustainably profitable in a competitive and mature industry.

Our security selection in BB credits was the top contributing rating segment in the second quarter, while security selection in lower credit quality issuers detracted. Sectors that contributed to performance included Cable & Satellite TV, Integrated Electric, and Wireline Telecom. In Cable & Satellite TV, our underweight in Altice USA contributed, as the bonds continued to trade poorly on speculation around liability management exercises similar to proposals from Altice France, which has demanded concessions from bondholders to deleverage its balance sheet. The key gainer in Integrated Electric was Atlantica Sustainable Infrastructure, which was up on news that it will be acquired by a group controlled by Energy Capital Partners. In Wireline, Telecom Italia completed an exchange of bonds across its capital structure in May, and the new bonds traded well. Sectors that detracted from performance included Electric Generation, Packaging, and Pharmaceuticals. Electric Generation was driven by rate-sensitive renewable energy issuers. In Packaging, bonds in the Ardagh Finance structure continued to trade weaker around liability management scenarios for that company. In Pharmaceuticals, Bausch bonds rallied after the consummation of a cooperation agreement between bondholders in early May, but we have maintained our underweight, given uncertainties around the company's plans to spin out its eye business and concerns around liability management the company may undertake.

Investment Outlook

Looking forward, whether growth can remain stable is a key question, along with inflation and whether the Fed can begin to normalize interest rates. Late in the month, Treasuries sold off as President Biden's poor debate performance was seen as increasing the likelihood of a Trump victory in November, which is viewed as potentially inflationary. While this outcome is a possibility, there are many scenarios surrounding the election, fiscal and monetary policy to consider. In general, we do expect continued disinflation, which should allow for one to two Fed cuts in 2024 and more next year. Political risk in Europe seems to have been mitigated at least for the short term. The UK election proceeded as expected, and the French snap elections ended with a surprise victory for the far left, but without a clear majority coalition, leading to probable political gridlock until the presidential elections in 2027. As a result, we do expect a relatively stable market going into the rest of the summer with relatively few catalysts to move markets dramatically absent significant inflation surprises. In this environment, we expect high yield to continue to grind higher, supported by a constructive economic backdrop and positive technicals. Given all-in yields continue to be attractive relative to other fixed income assets, we have a constructive outlook on high yield returns for the balance of 2024.

Performance Commentary

Performance was modestly positive in the first half of 2024, broadly in line with peers (who experienced a broad array of returns).

Markets had priced in far too many rate cuts by the Federal Reserve for 2024, and the realization that these cuts would not arrive drove government bond yields higher, resulting in negative for bond markets. Credit spreads, however, performed relatively well, and nowhere more so than in Financials, where the Sub-Fund had its largest allocations. This substantial allocation contributed most to Sub-Fund returns over the six month period.

The Emerging Market allocations taken by the Sub-Fund also delivered positive returns, notably positions in South African local currency debt, traded actively around the elections in that country, and in Egyptian hard currency sovereign debt, which rallied strongly after the announcement of significant land sales to investors in the UAE and further support from the IMF.

On the negative side, the reduced duration of the Sub-Fund was still negative for performance, and exposure to additional duration through bund and Treasury call options also proved negative.

Investment Outlook

Essentially, we believe the Fed's narrative that inflation will continue to subside and interest rates will be cut gradually from the present restrictive levels, allowing other central banks to also cut rates in support of their economies.

We believe that these rate cuts will lead to a positive environment for a wide range of risk assets, and we have positions in Emerging Markets, Convertibles and European Financials that will benefit from the realisation of that environment.

However, we also believe that, in the short term, persistent inflation poses a risk that the commencement of rate cuts is delayed beyond market expectations. This risk coincides with potential volatility in both risk assets and bond yields as a result of political uncertainty (and the typically less liquid Summer markets).

We therefore employ a considerable degree of CDS index-based hedging as protection against downside risk sentiment in the short term. This protection, achieved via broad iTraxx indices of European CDS, totals almost 30% of the Sub-Fund size.

Moreover, we have call options in place which will allow us to participate in the inevitable upside of fixed income markets should the Federal Reserve begin its rate cutting cycle in September. These call options are on 10 year US Treasuries and German Bunds.

The largest allocations in emerging markets are to local currency markets such as Mexico and South Africa, where significant carry is allied to the potential for rate cuts going forward. We also have hard currency allocations to attractive yields in Bahrain and Egypt.

Our largest credit exposure is in European banks and, to a lesser extent, insurance companies. The exposure is greatest within senior financials, which pose little risk of default, but we also have meaningful exposures to AT1s (co cos) that we expect to perform strongly as the Central Banks cut rates, and offer the cushion of attractive carry if this is delayed.

Performance Commentary

For the six months ended 30th June, 2024, the Sub-Fund returned -5.47% compared with the benchmark return of -3.71%, thereby underperforming the benchmark by 1.76%.

Against a backdrop of steady global growth but sticky inflation, markets are waiting for more clarity on the path of US interest rates. Expectations of the Fed's policy path continue to weigh on local emerging markets as the Fed's "higher for longer" narrative has kept the dollar strong, also limiting emerging markets local currency bond returns. In addition, idiosyncratic developments in some emerging markets countries have led to volatility and lower returns in the first half of the year.

During the first half of the year, we steadily reduced our exposure to China in order to avoid unattractive bond yields and possible repercussions from China's ongoing growth weakness and property sector crisis. At the beginning of the year, we invested heavily in Indian government bonds to take advantage of the country's strong growth prospects and to benefit from potential portfolio flows resulting from the inclusion of JPMorgan Government Bond Index-Emerging Markets in the index. As the dollar remained strong in the first half of the year, currency weakness in most of our key overweight countries and country-specific events in June (fiscal noise in Brazil, post-election turmoil in Mexico, etc.) reduced our relative performance.

In terms of price returns, China, Serbia and South Africa were the best performers, while Mexico, Colombia and Türkiye were the worst. Almost all emerging market currencies depreciated against the US dollar in the first half of 2024. The best performers were the South African rand, and the Uruguayan peso, while the worst performers were the Brazilian real and the Turkish lira.

The Sub-Fund benefited from our overweight position in India and off-benchmark forward position in Taiwanese dollars. The main detractors were the overweight position in Brazil and the underweight in China.

Investment Outlook

Emerging market local currency bonds posted negative returns in the first half of 2024, following a remarkable absolute performance in 2023. The US Fed's "higher for longer" narrative kept the dollar strong and idiosyncratic risks (elections, political noise, etc.) in some major EMs dragged down returns, mainly driven by currency losses. As the outlook for the dollar remains heavily influenced by the Fed's monetary policy, the possibility of Donald Trump being elected president for a second time in the November elections is also expected to have an impact on the dollar and thus on EM assets.

While the continued resilience of the US economy, with persistence inflationary pressures and a strong labour market in the first half of 2024, initially supported the Fed's hawkish stance, the recent softening in macroeconomic data suggests a potential shift. If sustained, this could pave the way for the Fed to start cutting rates later in 2024. A potential easing of the US dollar's strength could provide a more supportive environment for emerging markets currencies and emerging markets local currency bonds.

Recent elections in several key emerging markets have affected investor sentiment, particularly in Mexico. While India's Prime Minister Modi secured a victory, his weaker performance requires reliance on coalition partners. Nevertheless, economic reforms are likely to remain largely in place, and the region's growth trajectory should remain robust.

In Mexico, President-elect Sheinbaum's landslide victory in June gives her the ability to pursue constitutional reforms. However, her ambitions to overhaul the judiciary raise concerns about a potential weakening of institutional strength. In addition, a potential Trump victory in the US elections in November could introduce further uncertainty for Mexico, particularly on migration and trade.

South Africa's ruling party has lost its majority and will have to collaborate with a pro-business party in the coalition, potentially opening the door to economic reform. We will be watching the fiscal policies of the new governments in South Africa and Indonesia, where President-elect Prabowo takes office in October.

Meanwhile, Brazil experienced a confidence crisis in the second quarter, leading to currency depreciation and bond losses. This stemmed from concerns over increased political interference in the economy, weakened commitment to fiscal targets, and rising inflation expectations. We remain vigilant on our positions as the fiscal outlook, upcoming central bank appointments, and local elections in October could exacerbate existing problems.

The US Fed's rate outlook, dollar volatility and political developments in key emerging markets dominated our performance in the first half of the year. Looking ahead, political noise may continue to impact the asset class as the US elections approach. As always, the path of US inflation and the Fed's response remain critical factors for emerging market local currency bonds. We maintain our overweight positions in Brazil, Mexico (duration only) and India. We remain cautious on countries with significant macroeconomic imbalances and governance concerns.

Performance Commentary

For the six months ended 30th June, 2024, the Sub-Fund returned 11.45% compared with the benchmark return of 10.52%, thereby outperforming the benchmark by 0.93%.

Our credit selection in China and Hong Kong was the main driver for the relative outperformance.

Duration and yield curve effects were negligible to the Sub-Fund performance.

The benchmark returned 10.2% for the first half of 2024, outperforming both US HY performance of 3.3% and CEMBI HY performance of 6.8%. The current Asia High Yield benchmark yield of 12.1% and spread of 796 basis points remains attractive vs historical values and peers.

Investment Outlook

Asia High Yield has outperformed Emerging and Developed market peers primarily driven by solid spread tightening as the negative narratives for this asset class starts to subsidy.

Within the China High Yield sector, moderating defaults seem to suggest that the credit cycle has potentially bottomed out. Coupled with more targeted easing, especially for the property sector, we reckon that the worst could be behind us. Nonetheless, we do not expect a V-shaped recovery and caution that patience is still very much required as the inventory adjustment for the property market will be gradual.

Away from China, the rest of Asia High Yield held up satisfactory in the first half of 2024, with outperformance from the frontier sovereigns like Pakistan and Sri Lanka as they made material progress in their liability management.

Looking ahead, we remain cautiously optimistic on Asia High Yield given its satisfactory credit fundamental and ample local funding options. We reckon that valuation remains attractive on a historical perspective.

Performance Commentary

For the six months ended 30th June, 2024, the Sub-Fund returned 2.61% compared with the benchmark return of 1.59%, thereby outperforming the benchmark by 1.02%.

The total spread risk control positively contributed to the performance. We kept overweight Duration Times Spread ("DTS") position and Asia IG spread tightened during the first half of this year.

Credit selection was the biggest contributor to the relative performance. During the first half year, several investments in China, Korea and Malaysia performed well in our portfolio.

Yield curve strategy did not performed well and partially offset the outperformance in Credit Selection and DTS. We kept overweight in 3-7 year and underweight long end maturity zone and U.S. Treasury yields rose in the first half driven by mid-term maturity zone.

The benchmark returned 1.59% for the first half of 2024. The US Treasury factor contributed 0.17% to the benchmark return. The benchmark spread tightened from 108 basis points to 91 basis points and spread factor contributed 1.41% to the benchmark return. The benchmark yield at the end of June 2024 was 5.13%, slightly rose from 5.13% of December 2023.

Investment Outlook

The Fed decided to maintain its policy interest rate at the June FOMC meeting. The median outlook by committee members suggests a likelihood of one rate cut in 2024 and four rate cuts in 2025. We also anticipate that the impact of the cumulative interest rate hikes to date on economic growth indicators will become increasingly apparent, leading to a slowdown in US growth rates and a lower rate of inflation. Therefore, we expect the Fed to start cutting rates in the second half of the year and to continue with a series of rate cuts thereafter.

We expect the Fed to continue the rate cut cycle in 2025 and 2026, and also expect the 10-year US Treasury yield to decline along with the monetary policy. Based on this outlook, we are going to maintain our duration larger than that of the benchmark.

The spread levels of Asian investment-grade bonds have tightened from their 2022 peak and are currently around fair levels. However, we still believe that the supply-demand balance in Asian IG markets will work in favour of performance. Due to the high cost of financing with US dollar-denominated bonds, there will be less supply of new USD bonds issued by companies in India and China. On the other hand, investors are likely to increase bond investments because of the attractive absolute yield level and favourable monetary policy outlook.

Therefore, despite the fair valuation, we still expect the spread of Asia's investment-grade bonds to perform well for the rest of the year. Taking into account this investment environment, we plan to overweight the portfolio's Duration Times Spread compared with the benchmark.

Our allocation strategy is to maintain an overweight position in Korea for the time being. Korean quasi-sovereign bonds are slightly tight in terms of spread levels, but Korean industrial names and financial bonds are still traded at attractive spread levels. We also see some value in Bank T2 bonds and non-bank financials. They have outperformed during the first half of this year, but we still expect there is room for them to outperform.

On the other hand, based on the valuation analysis, we maintain underweight exposure to high-quality names in China, such as central SOEs and major financial institutions. Due to their absolute yields being higher than those of onshore bonds, USD denominated China bonds have attracted investment demands and the bond spreads have been compressed. Therefore, we will allocate small exposure to the high-quality China bonds in our portfolio strategy.

Performance Commentary

For the six months ended 30th June, 2024, the Sub-Fund returned 5.30% compared with the benchmark return of 4.74%, thereby outperforming the benchmark by 0.56%.

Attribution analysis shows that selection effect delivered positive contribution while allocation effect delivered negative contribution during the period.

In stock selection, overweight in CNOOC (Energy) and underweight in Li Auto (Consumer Discretionary) made positive contribution thanks to elevated oil price and stronger-than-expected price competition respectively. Negative in stock selection were underweight in Tencent (Communication Services) and overweight in Zhejiang Sanhua (Industrials) due to improving gaming regulatory environment and slower-than-expected humanoid robot development respectively.

In sector allocation, our underweight in Healthcare was positive contributor. Overweight in Communication Services and underweight in Utilities were negative factors of the relative performance.

The MSCI China Index rose in January to May 2024 on better-than-expected macro data and positive policy supports before moderating in June. The index closed at +4.74% for the first half of the year.

Investment Outlook

The economy tracked a steady recovery path into the first half of 2024 as the macro policy had turned more pro-growth since the second half of 2023. The economy strength was led by solid infra-FAI and manufacturing amid policy support for high-tech, IT and green economy, meanwhile the exports growth riding on global trading recovery also contributed. Having said that, domestic demands still stayed on the weak side in view of the sluggish property sales and lingering deflationary pressure. Overall the market in the first half of 2024 showed some rebound on the back of improving macro and improving sentiment helped by continuous policy efforts, such as the top-level government's initiative to support housing destocking and the pro-market reform led by President Xi, despite the sporadic concerns on external geopolitical sanction and tariff risks.

On the macro side, the economy growth in general was in-line with market expectation, with the first half GDP rising 5% yoy, well-on-track to the "around +5%" official yearly growth target, though the second quarter GDP of +4.7% yoy (v.s. +5.3% yoy in the first quarter) was somewhat disrupted by the extreme weather conditions which further weighed on the weak domestic demand environment with the second quarter retail sales moderating to 2.6% yoy from 4.7% yoy in the first quarter of 2024. But on the bright side, exports started to show green shoots as it improved from 1.5% yoy in the first quarter to 5.9% in the second quarter on global trade volume recovery, meanwhile industrial production and FAI continued to be the pillars with steady growth at 5.9%/3.9% yoy in the second quarter (v.s. 6.1%/4.5% yoy in the first quarter). Caixin manufacturing PMI continued to be the spotlight, staying strong at 51.4/51.7/51.8 in Apr-Jun. Property was not out of woods yet but actually started to have more signs of stabilization as property sales started to see narrower decline with nationwide housing sales yoy decline at -14.3% yoy in June v.s. -26.4% yoy in May.

Into the second half of 2024, we expect effective stimulus and policy continuity remain as the swing factors amid the ongoing unevenness in the economic recovery. We believe there is still much policy space to add support across both fiscal and monetary channels. More fiscal support will be helpful to further boost the domestic demands, meanwhile accommodative monetary policy will also help through government bond issuance as well as liquidity injection with MLF rate and RRR cut. Particularly on the consumption side, although the earlier trade-in programs to promote purchases of consumer durable goods has been providing some lifts to the overall consumption recovery, yet the scale is modest and the impact is far from sufficient and hence a further improvement will need more round of policy support and stimulus targeting a boarder base of sector/products. On the other hand, the industrial policy will likely continue to support investment and production with focus on stricter supply-control discipline, meanwhile emphasize more on high-quality development of new productive forces, technology innovation and high-end manufacturing.

As for the property, it is encouraging to see the latest round of housing policy relaxation announced in May included not only additional demand-side easing such as relaxation in mortgage down-payment and mortgage rate, but also included RMB 300 billion re-lending facility by the PBOC to support SOE purchase of unsold housing inventory. The easing policy initiative reflects policymakers' strong determination and willingness to cap the downside risks from further downward spiral and revive the homebuyers' confidence, which we think are in the right direction. While the policy effects will take time, we expect the policy support continuity with the aim of preventing developers' financial downside risk and accelerating housing inventory clearance remains vital to stabilize the housing market going forward.

On the monetary side, we expect monetary policy will in general remain supportive and accommodative with the balance between growth and financial stability. M2 and credit growth is likely to track inline or above the nominal GDP growth. Besides, the current benign inflationary environment also justifies the government could have plenty space to provide support for the economy in the form of credit support as well as RRR cuts by increasing liquidity. The government still has a great deal of flexibility to continue its credit extension to the real economy through ongoing investment spending and it is likely that some rate cuts will be seen into the second half of 2024.

On the currency side, the Chinese yuan (CNY) continued to face downward pressure as its exchange rate against the US dollar (USD) depreciated from 7.1 in January to 7.3 in June. A number of factors will be affecting the CNY fluctuation such as the Federal Reserve's interest rate cycle but we expect that the CNY will trade within a narrow range in the second half of 2024 with the potential for any upside for the CNY depending on the degree of economy recovery strength as the relevant stimulus and easing policies gradually take effect. A rapid depreciation of the CNY below the 7.3 threshold will be unlikely as the People's Bank of China (PBOC) should intervene to manage market expectations and prevent capital outflows as suggested by the historical trend. Overall, we expect the USD/CNY exchange rate to remain range-bound between 7 and 7.3 until year-end.

All in all, we are positive about the market outlook into the second half of 2024 in the sense that stimulus and policy efforts will still be in place to improve the recovery for the rest of the year. China's economic growth should be able to track towards the national 5% GDP target as monetary and fiscal supportive measures gradually come into effect, which meanwhile should also be supportive of corporates' upward earnings revisions. Also, we remain attentive to the potential external risks as to geopolitical tensions which might escalate towards the end of the year.

Performance Commentary

For the six months ended 30th June, 2024, the Sub-Fund returned 12.07% compared with the benchmark return of 11.30%, thereby outperforming the benchmark by 0.77%.

Both stock selection and sector allocation were positive contributors to performance. The latter due to our lack of exposure to both Materials and Real Estate. Cash has been a drag to performance this half year, but also contributed to reduce the beta of the portfolio.

We do not make top down allocations to sectors, the allocations are an outcome of our bottom up process, which looks for higher quality companies when they are trading at a discount to fair or intrinsic value.

The main contributors to performance for the semester were:

- TSMC (shares +55.1%), or Taiwan Semiconductor Manufacturing Company, the leading semiconductor foundry, is one of three semiconductor companies that has the capability to make leading edge transistors that are 5nm (nanometers) or smaller. Through decades of experience, TSMC is clearly the best at making the most advanced chips. This has led to TSMC having 90% market share in leading edge foundry (62% market share in overall foundry). Although Nvidia's stock benefitted most initially from the build out of AI infrastructure, as the market broadened out to reward other beneficiaries, TSMC stock rose. TSMC manufactures all of Nvidia's AI chips;
- Novo Nordisk (shares +40.4%), a Danish pharmaceutical company, which was up strongly in 2022 and 2023 as well. The company continues to benefit from the roll-out of Wegovy, an anti-obesity medicine that has high efficacy in weight loss and can promote kidney and cardiovascular health as well;
- ASML (shares +37.7%), the leading semiconductor lithography equipment company (lithography is the light source that prints the chip design onto the wafer), shares rose for similar reasons as TSMC explained above. The AI theme in the stock market broadened out beyond Nvidia as we expected and helped ASML stock. TSMC makes all the AI chips for Nvidia and TSMC uses ASML's lithography tools to make those chips. ASML has 90% market share in lithography and 100% market share in EUV lithography, a light source needed to make leading edge chips such as Nvidia's AI chips;
- Alphabet (shares +30.5%), has three main business lines, search, YouTube and Google Cloud. Search and YouTube are primarily advertising businesses while Google Cloud charges corporations for access to their cloud services. We believe search is one of the best business models created. Users query what they are interested in which is valuable information to sell advertising. This type of advertising, called direct response, is more effective than traditional brand advertising when advertisers are looking to elicit an action such as online shopping or requesting additional information. Alphabet stock rose as a recovery in the online advertising industry benefitted their search business and YouTube. The stock also the top contributor for the strategy performance in 2023.

The main detractors were:

- NVIDIA shares rallied sharply (+149.5%) and we do not have a position in the Sub-Fund. While we like the company, we have preferred the risk-reward proposition of TSMC and ASML in the semiconductor industry and we see our holdings in Microsoft, Alphabet and Amazon, benefitting from the AI development;
- AiA (shares -20.6%), a Hong Kong based life insurer, had a negative start of the year, as the financial markets and the Chinese macro disappointed. The business model of a life insurer suffers with equity market weakness and the share price tends to track bond yields, which is what is currently happening with AIA due to weak Chinese bond yields and equity market weakness in key markets like China, Hong Kong and Thailand. The underlying new business value of the group continues to rebound nicely after the pandemic and margin is recovering after a dip due to negative mix last year. The stock is off its April lows, however continues to struggle in a difficult macro environment.

Nestlé (shares -10.1%), a global market leader in several consumer staples categories like coffee, pet food or nutrition, has been suffering from a deceleration in demand in some of its key categories, with organic growth now expected at a lower rate than a few months ago, and with less pricing power in some brands as results of pressures on some consumers. The poor industry performance was exacerbated by some execution missteps. We are confident of the quality of the brands of the Nestlé portfolio, see the company attractively valued and these levels and are confident this exposure will provide protection to our portfolio in case we see a slowdown in the economy.

Investment Outlook

Looking at the macro trends, the year 2024 has seen an almost complete reversal: Coming into the year, investors expected multiple (4 to 5) US interest rate cuts and a weakening in US growth, with growth then holding up much better and stronger than expected, supporting solid earnings growth and seeing rate cut expectations reduced to 1-2 cuts only. At the time of writing (early August 2024), marginally weaker US numbers (inflation and employment) have sent interest rates lower again, expecting 4 cuts in 2024.

In the equity markets, the first half of 2024 in the US (and global) markets have been dominated by a strong performance driven by a limited number of large cap stocks. For instance, in the S&P500, only 130 stocks outperformed the S&P total return of 15.3%. Growth and semiconductor stocks, driven by strong AI chip sales and rapidly increasing market forecasts, were the dominant and strongest performers, with underperformance in defensive sectors. In the last few weeks, this trend has seen a violent rotation, based on initial valuation/momentum concerns and then further driven by reversal of carry trades/gross positioning of leveraged Investors.

Given the uncertainty on US economic growth, the resulting risk to equity earnings, a volatile interest rate background, plus the additional uncertainty from 2024 US Presidential Election, we could see an equity market reasonably volatile. In case of a Republican/Trump victory we can expect strength in domestic shares hoping for tax cuts, strength in Energy shares but weakness in Renewables, as this might mean partial reversal of tax breaks for Renewables. A Democrat victory might be more status quo with less impact on specific sectors, but a very divided vote/thin majorities might be seen as increasing uncertainty. Faced with somewhat unclear market outlook, we will continue to rely on our bottom-up analysis of long-term company Fair Values.

Our philosophy focuses on quality stocks, which should do relatively well in a slower economic environment.

Performance Commentary

For the six months ended 30th June, 2024, the Sub-Fund returned 3.40%, compared with the benchmark return of 3.53%, and therefore underperformed the benchmark by -0.13%.

BBs performed best in the first quarter as demand for high quality paper remained strong. B and CCC issuers in general performed well, but were offset by several idiosyncratic distressed issues that traded off significantly during the quarter. Sectors that contributed to performance included Recreation & Travel, Support Services, and Diversified Capital Goods. In Recreation & Travel, Carnival Cruises continued to general alpha for the portfolio as the company's financial outlook and position continue to improve at an accelerating rate. We expect the company to achieve investment grade metrics in the next 12-18 months. The main contributor in the Support Services segment was Selecta. The company services food and beverage machines in commercial buildings, and its results have improved as workers continue to return to offices. The market expects that the owner is looking to sell the business in the near term. In Diversified Capital Goods, the Chinese industrial conglomerate Fosun International saw its bonds trade higher on the back of strong performance in the Asian high yield market. Sectors that detracted from performance were Wireline Telecom, Real Estate Development & Management, and Packaging. In Wireline Telecom, Altice France reported numbers and guidance that were slightly weaker than expected, but the main story was the management team took a much more aggressive tone towards bondholders, reducing their target leverage and asking bondholders to take meaningful haircuts in order for Drahi to contribute equity into the business. This caused both secured and unsecured bonds to trade off significantly. Our overweight in the unsecured bonds, which had traded higher year-to-date due to asset sale news, particularly impacted performance. Altice International bonds traded off as well given fears of more aggressive management tactics at that structure with the potential upcoming sale of the Altice Portugal assets. Our underweight in Real Estate overall detracted from performance, and our underweight in CPI Group hurt as the company's bonds recovered from a short seller's report and REITs rebounded on optimism for lower interest rates. In Packaging, our position in Ardagh Finance traded poorly as the outlook for the business remained weak and questions persisted around the refinancing of the company's 2025-2027 maturity wall.

CCC issuers outperformed BB and B issuers in the second quarter. Our performance was helped by our credit allocation, as we have an underweight in BBs and overweight in Bs and CCCs. From a sector standpoint, Chemicals, Recreation & Travel, and Diversified Capital Goods contributed to our relative performance during the quarter. In Chemicals, our overweight in the sector was the main contributor as the industry seems to be pulling out of the destocking cycle that negatively impacted earnings in 2023. Our largest contributor was specialty chemical company Arxada, which remains highly leveraged, but earnings were stable during the quarter, and management has seen demand begin to turn positively. In Recreation & Travel, our overweight in Carnival continues to perform well. We continue to believe that the company is on track to reach investment grade metrics in the intermediate term. In Diversified Capital Goods, our underweight in Nexans was a small contributor to performance as many French companies saw selling activity prior to the snap elections announced by President Macron. Sectors that detracted from performance included Investments & Miscellaneous Financial Services, Support Services, and Wireline Telecom. In Financial Services, our holdings in iQera detracted from performance as the company made a surprise announcement that they would be seeking to approach bondholders for help right-size the balance sheet. In Support Services, Zenith Finco bonds traded down as used car prices continued to weaken, particularly for electric vehicles. In Wireline Telecom, Altice International sold off as worries continued over the company's ability to extract assets from the restricted group to help the Sub-Fund liability management at sister company Altice France.

Investment Outlook

The European high yield market continues to benefit from an overall stable macro environment. Central banks have begun their rate cutting cycle, with the ECB cutting by 25 basis points during the month. The BoE is expected to follow, possibly in July. We believe that this environment, in which central bank bias leans towards cutting rates, provides a constructive backdrop for high yield credit, where investors are more comfortable taking credit risk with fewer worries about interest rate risk. These factors have led to a robust capital market environment where companies have been able to access the markets to refinance their shorter-term maturities. We believe that the 2025 and 2026 maturity wall has been significantly de-risked, with a majority of the remaining maturities belonging to higher quality issuers that should have no problems accessing the market regardless of market conditions. Political risk also seems to have been largely mitigated with the conclusion of the UK and French elections. The UK elections ended as expected, with Labour taking a strong majority. The French snap elections meanwhile had a surprise ending with the far left New Popular Front taking the most seats in parliament. This result will most likely lead to a gridlocked government until the 2027 presidential elections, which is the scenario most investors had expected. We continue to believe that default rates will remain low for the short to intermediate term, supporting high yield returns, particularly as all-in yields approaching 7% continue to be attractive.

Performance Commentary

For the six months ended 30th June, 2024, the Sub-Fund returned 12.17% compared with the benchmark return of 11.30%, thereby outperforming the benchmark by 0.87%.

Sector allocation was a modest negative as tailwinds from being underweight Consumer Staples and Consumer Discretionary were offset by the headwinds from the Information Technology underweight and Healthcare overweight positions. The entirety of the outperformance was driven by selection over the period reflecting very strong performance across healthcare and industrial holdings and it was further pleasing to outperform in Information Technology despite not holding a number of the mega cap names which soared over the first half of the year. Financials selection was however weak over the period driven in part by broader Emerging Markets underperformance (where the strategy takes the majority of its exposure in financials to support access to financial services).

Global equity market strength followed through from the end of 2023, into the first quarter of 2024, buoyed by ever growing optimism around artificial intelligence (AI) and expectations for a soft landing. The S&P 500 was up 10.6% (USD terms) which was the first time in ten years that it has posted double digit back to back quarterly returns whilst the standout equity market for the quarter was Japan which rose 21.4% in JPY terms (13.0% USD) its highest return since 2009. Economic data continues to remain strong and surprise to the upside, however inflation numbers also continue to remain hotter than the Fed in particular would like with January and February core CPI running at +0.4% month on month (mom). This has in turn pushed back market expectations for a rate cut – going into the year the market had expected cuts by March, whilst at the time of writing only ca. 50% change of cuts in June has been priced in. As a result, whilst equity markets continued to price in a relatively 'Goldilocks' scenario, US ten year yields rose 32 basis points to 4.20% and bonds underperformed materially over the quarter.

After a very strong start to 2024, global equity markets were more muted in the second quarter with the MSCI ACWI increasing by 4% after an 11% advance in the first quarter. The US market led the way with the S&P 500 up +5% driven mostly by Information Technology with the Nasdaq rising by +9%. Outside the US, Europe (0%) and Japan (-4%) were weaker whilst China was mixed with Hong Kong markets slightly positive but key domestic indices still falling.

In Europe and the US, a nascent 'Goldilocks' scenario seems to be playing out as growth remains resilient in the face of higher interest rates whilst inflation appears to be trending down. US Core CPI fell through the quarter from +3.6% year-on-year in April to +3.3% in June marking a further improvement year to date (YTD). In Europe, inflation has fallen too, with Eurozone June core CPI coming in at +2.9%. Although investor expectations on the number and timing of interest cuts were too optimistic coming into 2024, the market has remained resilient and we think this may be because there is some relief that cuts will happen at all. Investor concerns on China have continued through the first half of 2024.

The greatest contributors to performance were TSMC (+55%), Novo Nordisk (+40%), ASML (+38%), Boston Scientific (+33%), and SAP (+33%). A major theme through the period was of winners continuing to win and AI winners in particular continuing to soar with a broadening out of this from beyond NVIDIA as was seen in particular with TSMC's 'catch up'. The greatest detractors to performance came primarily from not holding NVIDIA (+149%). Across holdings AIA (-21%), CVS (-24%) Adobe (-7%) and Bank Rakyat (-21%) were the largest detractors.

Impact Focus

In the first quarter the team undertook 9 engagements for impact with portfolio companies over the period. Of these 2 were focused on the team's Mitigate Natural Capital Depletion impact goal, 2 on Mitigate the Obesity Epidemic, 1 on Global Access to Basic Financial Services, 1 on Mitigate Climate Change and 3 on other sustainability matters. Of the 9 engagements undertaken, 6 were ongoing engagements whilst 3 were one off engagements. Of these ongoing engagements the breakdown by milestone was: 3 were at milestone level II, 1 at level III, 1 at level IV and 1 at level V (completed). In the second quarter, the team undertook 28 engagements for impact with portfolio companies over the period. Of these 12 were focused on the team's Mitigate Climate Change impact goal, 5 on Mitigate the Obesity Epidemic, 3 on Eliminate Communicable Disease and 8 on other sustainability matters. Of the 28 engagements undertaken, 22 were ongoing engagements whilst 6 were one off engagements. Of these ongoing engagements the breakdown by milestone is: 4 were at milestone level I, 11 were at milestone level II, 4 at level III and 3 at level V (completed). Due to lack of success, two milestone engagements were concluded during the quarter.

Investment Outlook

During the second quarter, the S&P 500 reached valuation levels present at the end of 2021 despite 10yr Treasuries now yielding over 250 basis points more. To many investors this has been surprising and the equity market's resilience to monetary policy has caught many strategists off-guard. Two important factors that help to explain this are: i) investors appear willing to look through current rates given inflation is on a downward path; and ii) the market has become even more dominated by megatech as investors seek AI beneficiaries. For global equity investors, this backdrop creates considerable risk. If the downward path on inflation, which has already taken longer than anticipated to realise in 2024, is further delayed then the market may become impatient. Upward pressure on inflation is still present. The US economy is still robust with unemployment significantly below long-term averages (4.1% in June). Going forward, there are risks around how inflationary a future Trump administration could be. A risk of 'higher rates for longer' has not been vanquished in our view and remains a potential downside risk for global markets. Setting aside monetary policy, the increasing likelihood of Trump winning the election has already been expressed by investors trying to position for certain winners (healthcare, defence) and losers (renewables, electric vehicle makers). In our experience, the effects of new administrations on individual companies are not always easy to predict; certain renewables companies actually benefited significantly through Trump's last presidency for example. Overall, we continue to see the US as a particularly fertile ground for finding companies levered to sustainable growth trends and despite valuations being more challenging, the broader macro-economic situation remains supportive of the market for the time being.

Outside of the US, inflation has gradually eased during 2024 in Europe with core inflation at 2.9% in June. Economists still broadly expect GDP growth to lag the US and this lower demand pressure perhaps gives policymakers greater flexibility to ease monetary policy. China remains a difficult area for the global economy with output growth slowing sequentially in the second quarter. This situation could be worsened by political tensions with Trump proposing a tariff of between 60-100% upon election. Already we have seen the underperformance of certain sectors reliant on China exports in the second quarter (luxury goods being a good example). Greater uncertainty on China-US relations on top of a weaker demand backdrop creates potential headwinds for corporate earnings in the country and could be a headwind for global markets as a result.

Impact Outlook

One area in which the team have an out of consensus view on impact is within the biotech and pharma space. Whilst we strongly agree there are a number of bad actors and companies that would never be suitable in a sustainable strategy we feel that certain companies have an incredibly high impact on tackling some of the greatest challenges faced and are dragged down by a broader negative perception regarding pricing and litigation across the industry. Whilst during the pandemic as a number of these companies played a vital role in helping to drag economies out of lockdown sentiment improved, perception has drifted more negative since and we believe that the industry must do a better job in articulating its positive impact and supporting a more positive perception of in particular access efforts, and the worldwide impact this is having.

An example of one very positive improvement in potential long term impact on broader society came from Gilead, one of our healthcare holdings, which published very positive data in June from their Purpose 1 trial of Lenacapivir. This twice-yearly injection was designed to prevent HIV infections developing with a much more convenient formulation to administer than the standard of care (2x injections vs daily oral). During the trial, no patients who took Lenacapivir developed an HIV infection, which was better than the comparator (oral Truvada). Whilst this asset presents a significant commercial opportunity for Gilead, particularly in developed economies, we were also really encouraged that Gilead are already thinking about how to license this treatment to maximise access in the developing world. The HIV pandemic has continued in varying levels of incidence since 1981 and though important positive steps have been made, 33.6 million people were still living with HIV in 2022 according to UN figures. Preventing new infections is a big priority as well as anti-retroviral treatment for those already carrying the disease. In both of these areas, we think the innovation of the pharmaceutical sector is crucial and we are encouraged to see this positive development.

Performance Commentary

For the six months ended 30th June, 2024, the Sub-Fund returned 7.28% compared with the benchmark return of 2.29%, thereby outperforming the index by 4.99%

Stocks rose on signs of relatively stable economic growth. Moderating inflation also raised hopes for interest rate cuts from major central banks in the U.S., the U.K. and Europe. Small-cap stocks lagged large caps, however, as reflected in the MSCI EAFE Index.

Among portfolio holdings, health care stocks were notable contributors to relative performance. Top performers included U.S.based ADMA Biologics. Shares of this biopharmaceutical company jumped higher after it reported strong first-quarter earnings. It also raised guidance as the management team expressed confidence in its efforts to commercialize its products. Stock selection in the financials sector was also beneficial, aided by bank and capital markets holdings. Elsewhere in the portfolio, Asics was a top performer. This sporting goods company has delivered strong revenue and earnings growth and a robust revenue outlook. Asics continued to return money to shareholders through stock repurchases.

Stock selection and portfolio underweights in the energy and industrials sectors detracted from relative performance. Notable detractors among individual portfolio holdings included DoubleVerify Holdings, a provider of digital media analytic solutions. The company reduced its 2024 revenue guidance, as economic uncertainty led enterprise customers to cut back spending. This news weighed on the stock price. We sold the position given concerns over the near-term earnings outlook. Medical products supplier Alphatec Holdings, another detractor, reported better-than-expected sales and earnings but used up more cash than expected. This led to a decline in the stock price. We believe it has scope to gain market share and outgrow its markets, however.

From a geographic standpoint, stock selection in the U.S. lifted relative performance. Stock selection and an underweight in Taiwan detracted.

Investment Outlook

The portfolio continues to invest in companies where we believe fundamentals are strong and improving but share price performance does not fully reflect these factors. Our process is based on individual security selection, but broad themes have emerged.

A more favourable backdrop for small caps. Macro events have overshadowed company fundamentals in recent years, with small-cap stocks bearing the brunt of worries about inflation, rising interest rates and slowing economic growth. This period of relative underperformance compared to large caps has been an exception compared to a record of small-cap outperformance since 2001. Though inflation remains above central bank targets, we are investing with a better economic backdrop than a year ago. We believe this could allow investors to refocus on earnings growth as the key driver of stock prices.

Small-cap valuations remain attractive relative to large caps. We continue to identify small-cap companies that we believe have the potential to deliver accelerating and sustainable earnings growth. Stable or declining interest rates may also provide a tailwind for small-cap markets. We believe bottom-up stock selection and prudent diversification remain critical as we find growth opportunities across various sectors and geographies.

Artificial intelligence is driving earnings growth for information technology companies. We have continued to find compelling investments in semiconductor and cybersecurity companies with accelerating and sustainable growth prospects. We also see potential tied to innovations in AI, which could fuel increased demand for computing capacity, semiconductor testing and measurement, data centre space and advanced semiconductors.

Continued bottom-up consumer discretionary opportunities. While there has been some weakening in consumer demand, we continue to find companies that are benefiting from consumers trading down as well as from consumer companies catering to higher-end consumers. We also see opportunities tied to increasing spending on travel and hospitality, particularly in Asia, and companies that are supported by stock-specific drivers of earnings growth.

We are finding opportunities among industrial companies. Reshoring and nearshoring trends continue as a catalyst as businesses move operations closer to home or friendlier and lower-cost countries. We also see opportunities in companies with end markets tied to factory automation and aerospace and defence spending.

Performance Commentary

For the six months ended 30th June, 2024, the Sub-Fund returned 13.66% compared with the benchmark return of 11.30%, thereby outperforming the benchmark by 2.36%.

Global stocks advanced strongly in the six-month period, as the U.S., non-U.S. developed and emerging markets all posted robust gains. First-quarter U.S. economic growth slowed to the lowest point since early 2022, and inflation moderated slightly, feeding investors' hopes for Fed interest rate cuts. Growth stocks outperformed their value counterparts by a significant margin during the period, though value stocks still generated solid returns. Meanwhile, the European Central Bank cut rates for the first time in five years. Though the Fed kept interest rates steady during the period, policymakers suggested they may cut rates once by year-end.

From a geographic perspective, the portfolio benefited from its favorable stock selection in the U.S., whereas negative stock selection in Spain detracted. On a sector basis, information technology was the strongest contributor, while financials hindered relative performance the most. The single largest stock contribution to the portfolio came from NVIDIA. Shares of the chipmaker rose amid continued investor enthusiasm for the company's artificial intelligence products, resulting in NVIDIA becoming the world's most valuable company, surpassing Microsoft and Apple. NVIDIA's 10-for-1 stock split also took place in June. The largest detraction from relative returns came from Facebook's parent company Meta Platforms. Shares in Meta have been volatile through the first six months of the year. We expect the company to deliver sustained growth via the monetization of assets like Reels and the continued growth of its user base.

Investment Outlook

We believe a key benefit of our investment approach is the ability to identify businesses with a diverse set of growth drivers. We think these drivers are sustainable and complement our holdings' other idiosyncratic characteristics.

We see red flags for the U.S. economy, but opportunities remain. After a long period of tight conditions, we are seeing evidence that the U.S. labor market is normalizing. Unemployment is elevated compared to a year ago, and continuing claims for unemployment benefits recently hit their highest point in more than two years. We have also observed weakness in consumer spending, with companies reporting that many high-income customers are trading down to less expensive products and that less affluent consumers are gravitating to private-label offerings. Still, we are finding superior earnings growth and inflection opportunities in the U.S. compared to Europe.

Artificial intelligence is propelling capital spending. First-quarter reporting highlighted an acceleration in the AI arms race. Demand for cloud computing services continued to climb, as reflected in higher-than-expected capital expenditures by notables Meta Platforms, Alphabet and Microsoft. The AI build-out requires technology upgrades for handling massive amounts of data at high speeds. This is spurring earnings growth in companies that make components for processing data and cooling equipment inside data centers, as well as businesses that generate and distribute the electricity that powers them.

Stock-specific growth drivers remain in focus. We believe businesses with the ability to grow and deliver earnings that are not dependent on the economic cycle will be rewarded in a higher-for-longer interest rate environment. In addition to AI-related businesses, examples include companies with strong positions in the market for weight-loss drugs and aircraft parts makers that benefit from the lengthy backlogs at The Boeing Co. and Airbus. We have also seen positive trends in the semiconductor market, including chipmakers that are not leveraged to the AI infrastructure build-out.

Earnings growth could be poised to broaden. We could see a wider range of companies posting strong earnings growth in the second half of 2024. Many technology-related businesses have tough year-over-year profit growth comparisons to beat, while sectors that struggled in 2023 have relatively easier hurdles to clear. As a result, we may see the Magnificent Seven come back to the pack. According to earnings growth forecasts, the rest of the S&P 500 Index will overtake the Magnificent Seven in the fourth quarter. In turn, we believe market performance could become more widely distributed as a broader range of companies delivers stronger profit growth.

The real estate slump remains a headwind for China. The real estate market is the key sentiment driver for industrial and consumer demand in China. Despite recent policy changes, China's housing market continues to face downward price pressures from excess supply and is creating headwinds for China-based businesses and companies selling into the country.

For the six months ended 30th June, 2024, the Sub-Fund returned 12.55% compared with the benchmark return of 11.30%, thereby outperforming the benchmark by 1.25%.

Shares of the Brazil-based securities and commodities exchange operator moved lower during the period after management recently reported a decline in quarterly profit due to weaker equities trading volumes. Subsequently, we exited the position.

Performance Commentary

For the six months ended 30th June, 2024, the Sub-Fund returned 12.13% compared with the benchmark return of 7.49%, thereby outperforming the benchmark by 4.64%.

Emerging markets equities advanced during the first half of 2024 but trailed developed markets. Excitement around artificial intelligence and expectations for interest rate cuts by major central banks helped fuel the rally, but mixed inflation data and a likely shallower trajectory for cuts limited gains. Stock selection and a beneficial overweight in the information technology sector, together with stock selection in consumer discretionary and consumer staples, drove the portfolio's relative outperformance. In contrast, stock selection in financials, industrials and energy weighed on relative results. From a geographic perspective, stock selection in Taiwan, India and South Korea added substantial value, partially offset by detraction from overweight allocations to Hong Kong and Thailand. Positioning in Mexico also detracted. The single-largest individual contributor was Taiwan Semiconductor Manufacturing Co. (TSMC), whose shares benefited from demand upside for AI chips, given TSMC's leadership in leading-edge chips. In our view, high utilization from advanced nodes and potential price hikes will likely drive further upside. The largest detractor was the portfolio's lack of exposure to Taiwan-based contract electronics manufacturer Hon Hai Precision Industry, known as Foxconn, whose shares rallied during the period.

Investment Outlook

While emerging markets (EM) equities have trailed developed markets (DM) stocks thus far in 2024, the economic backdrop continues to be supportive of EM, and we have a constructive outlook on the region. With inflation pressure lessening and monetary policy easing in its early stages, EM economies are forecast to grow more than twice the rate of DM. Meanwhile, EM stocks are trading at a historically high discount to their DM counterparts, based on forward price to earnings.

Though the Fed's higher-for-longer stance has deterred aggressive moves by EM central banks, we anticipate a gradual broadening of easing in the second half of the year as disinflation progresses and conditions materialize for U.S. policy easing.

China's economic recovery has been encouraging in 2024, as first-quarter GDP growth was faster than expected. We believe a continued recovery in exports and an acceleration of fiscal spending will support near-term growth. However, high-frequency data has shown some softness recently, suggesting that the domestic demand recovery has not fully found firm footing. The housing market continues to face downward price pressures from excess supply. Though the direction of property market policy is encouraging, we think housing activity will likely remain weak through the end of the year. Consensus estimates are increasingly less bearish on Chinese stocks, and the country's stock market was in positive territory through the first half of 2024.

The artificial intelligence theme and supportive electronics trends have lifted Asian EM in recent quarters, and we expect those trends will likely continue to spur earnings growth. Strong exports from South Korea and Taiwan are driving a continued expansion in electronics manufacturing activity. We expect the build-out of AI infrastructure to remain a growth catalyst and have seen signs of a recovery in regular servers.

Meanwhile, Latin American markets have underperformed in recent quarters, despite the fact that central banks in Brazil and Mexico began cutting their lending rates in 2023 and the first half of 2024. While the region's policymakers have become more cautious, economic growth has held up, and trends such as trade protectionism and sticky commodity prices are positives. Despite post-election volatility in Mexico, supportive economic factors, such as nearshoring and remittances, remain in place. In Brazil, economic activity also remains resilient with private consumption supported by the tightness in the labour market.

Market Review

January-March

The global equity market remained almost unchanged from early to mid-January, as the uncertainties surrounding the situation in the Middle East intensified, while expectations for new AI-related semiconductors announced by a major U.S. semiconductor manufacturer increased. Towards the end of the month, the University of Michigan Consumer Sentiment Index for January (preliminary) exceeded market expectations, and the core PCE (Personal Consumption Expenditures) price index for December 2023 showed a growth rate that was nearly at a 3-year low compared to the same month the previous year. This was well received by the market and led to an increase in stock prices.

In February, the FOMC (Federal Open Market Committee) indicated a stance to continue monetary tightening, which led to some declines, but the market rose favorably due to strong earnings reports from several major IT companies, including leading semiconductor manufacturers.

In March, there were moments of decline due to speculations that the U.S. government would strengthen regulations on exports of AI-related semiconductors to China. However, the market rose favorably after Jerome Powell, the chair of the FRB, expressed a positive outlook on starting interest rate cuts. Towards the end of the month, the market rose as the FOMC indicated a sustained positive economic outlook, while also maintaining the expectation of 3 interest rate cuts in 2024, leading to an overall upward trend during this period.

When looking at sector performance, the IT and Communication Services sectors led the way in performance, with some large-cap stocks announcing strong earnings and proactive shareholder return policies. On the other hand, sectors such as Real Estate, Utilities, and Materials, saw a decrease in performance due to the rise in U.S. long-term interest rates, causing a backlash after having benefitted from declining interest rates up to this point.

April-June

The global equity market declined in early April as expectations for an early rate cut diminished after a key member of FOMC commented, "it is smart for the Fed to take our time" to address inflation. Additionally, reports surfaced that the Chinese authorities had instructed major domestic telecommunication companies to gradually exclude the use of foreign-made semiconductors. In late April, during the January-March quarter results announcements, major IT companies demonstrated strong performance that exceeded market expectations. Furthermore, some companies displayed a positive stance on shareholder returns. This was well received by the market and led to an increase in stock prices.

In early May, the market increased as sales from a major smartphone manufacturer for the January-March quarter exceeded market expectations, and the growth rates of the number of employees and average wages in the April employment statistics fell below market expectations, leading to an increase in anticipation for an early rate cut. Subsequent to that, the strong demand for AI-related semiconductors resulted in a major semiconductor manufacturer's sales forecasts for the May-July quarter significantly exceeding market expectations, which was well received. Conversely, there was a sense of aversion due to U.S. Composite PMI (Purchasing Managers' Index) flash estimate reaching its highest level in over 2 years, leading to heightened inflation concerns, resulting in a mixed market sentiment.

In early June, the market surged as a U.S. IT company providing network equipment for enterprises saw a sharp increase in revenue from their AI server business for the May-July quarter, leading to a significant rise in stock prices. Following that, the market reacted positively to factors such as the May U.S. Consumer Price Index (CPI) and Producer Price Index (PPI) falling below market expectations. However, profit-taking activities intensified, particularly in U.S. semiconductor manufacturers that had seen significant stock price increases, leading to a lacklustre performance in stock prices.

When looking at sector performance, the IT and Communication Services sectors stood out, driven by some large-cap stocks announcing strong earnings and proactive shareholder return policies. The utilities sector excelled, benefitting from the decline in U.S. interest rates due to rising expectations of rate cuts. On the other hand, concerns over growing macroeconomic indicators signalling economic slowdown resulted in aversion and underperformance in sectors such as Real Estate, Materials, and Industrials.

Portfolio Review and Investment Activities

January-March

Stock selection was the major contributor for the first quarter. Our overweight position in the IT sector and stock selection within it were the major standouts. Additionally, stock selection in Communication Services and Industrials have also contributed positively to our performance.

Among individual stocks, stock selection with structural growth companies in the New Technology theme were major contributors. Additionally, stocks outside of the IT sector, such as Meta Platforms from the Entertainment and Experience theme and Eaton from the "Internet of Things"/Reshoring theme contributed positively. Major positive contributors were NVIDIA and Micron Technology (New Technology). Robust earnings announced for the November-January quarter, which were driven by strong demand for AI semiconductor, led to an acceleration in performance growth and resulted in a rise in stock prices for NVIDIA. Similarly, Micron Technology reported strong earnings for the December-February quarter, with expectations of rising product prices due to increased demand for high-performance memory for AI semiconductors leading to a favourable outlook and a rise in their stock price. Additionally Apple from the New Technology theme, in which we had an underweight position, contributed positively. Even though we continue to value their high profitability and the stability of their business, we judged that mid-term growth expectations from their multifaceted businesses in software and services have been partially factored into the stock price, making us keep our underweight position. On the other hand, Snowflake from AI/Data Science was the major negative contributor. Their stock price fell as there was increased uncertainty surrounding their future earnings growth due to actions such as the withdrawal of mid-term targets and changes in their management team.

Focus has shifted to the monetary policies of central banks, as well as the corporate results for the January to March quarter and earnings forecasts. Against this backdrop, there has been uneven performance among individual companies. As such, we have adjusted our portfolio in response to these changes in the market environment. We reduced our overweight position in IT but increased our overweight position in Communication Services. Also, we maintained our overweight position in countries such as the United States from the previous quarter, while remaining underweight on countries such as Japan. Moreover, we reduced the exposure to themes such as IoT/Reshoring and increased the exposure to themes such as Entertainment/Experience.

Major purchases were ICICI Bank (Demographic Bonus). We bought shares in ICICI Bank, which is expected to grow in the medium to long term from India's high economic growth potential and strong domestic demand for financial services. Also, Progressive Corp (Tech Solution), which we added as we expect the company to achieve medium-term growth based on efficient utilization of driving data, as well as anticipated continued increases in insurance premiums. Whereas, major sales were PTC (IoT/Reshoring). We exited our position in this name as the long-term growth expectations for software in computer-aided design (CAD) and product lifecycle management (PLM) that are capable of managing production from start to finish remain unchanged, however, we believe that the growth expectations have been somewhat factored into its stock price. Also, Tesla (Tech Solution), which we sold our entire position in before the quarterly result announcement due to concerns about a slowdown in business growth as the company's business environment worsened.

April-June

Sector allocation was the major contributor for the second quarter. Our overweight position in the IT sector was the major standout. Additionally, stock selection in Communication Services and Industrials have also contributed positively to our performance.

Among individual stocks, stock selection with structural growth companies in the New Technology theme were major contributors. Also stocks outside of the IT sector, such as Alphabet Inc. from the AI/Data Science theme and Asics Corporation from the Entertainment/Experience theme contributed positively. Major positive contributors were Arista Networks, Inc. (New Technology). AI training requires more computing power, and creating big AI server clusters with high-performance network equipment is one way to accelerate computing power. Arista offers high-performance network equipment for hyper scalers. They plan to increase the production level of their products in the second half of this year. Investors gradually recognized their growth potential as networking chip makers highlighted the importance of networking in the AI era, resulting in a rise in stock prices for Arista. Additionally, Nvidia Corporation (New Technology) contributed positively, as a major EV maker disclosed using a big AI server cluster for training that utilizes many GPUs, robust earnings were announced for the February to April quarter, resulting in accelerated performance growth driven by strong demand for AI semiconductors. This led to a rise in stock prices for NVIDIA. On the other hand, a major negative contributor was Apple Inc. (New Technology). Not holding the stock had a negative impact, as it performed well due to the expectation of accelerating the smartphone replacement cycle with the announcement of a new feature incorporating AI. Also, Inspire Medical Systems, Inc. (Global Aging) contributed negatively. Although Inspire is a leading provider of minimally invasive treatment for sleep disorders and still has strong revenue growth, the leading indicators of its growth momentum such as utilization and procedures/centers shows a below trend level. At the same time, markets heightened concerns over GLP-1 related risks to the ultimate TAM of Inspire, especially after Eli Lilly's clinical trial data showed that Tirzepatide was effective as a therapy option for individuals with obesity and moderate-to-severe OSA.

Focus has shifted to the monetary policies of central banks, changes in economic outlooks, and election results in major countries. Against this backdrop, there has been uneven performance among individual companies. As such, we have adjusted our portfolio in response to these changes in the market environment. We reduced our overweight position in IT while shifting our underweight position in Healthcare to overweight. Also, we maintained our overweight position in countries such as the United States from the previous quarter, while being underweight on countries such as the United Kingdom. Moreover, we reduced the exposure to themes such as AI/Data Science and increased the exposure to themes such as Global Aging.

Major purchases were Broadcom (New Technology). While data centers are expanding their AI capabilities and interconnecting AI servers, investors are underestimating the increase in the number of chips per cluster. Therefore, we bought it to capture those growth gap opportunities. Another major purchase was Uber (Entertainment/Experience). We bought Uber, judging the expansion of user numbers and usage frequency of ride-sharing services and food delivery services, along with the improvement in the competitive environment, will lead to an increase in performance. On the other hand, major sales were Idexx Laboratories (Entertainment/Experience) and Workday (AI/Data Science). For Idexx, while we continue to have expectations for the long-term performance growth of the animal clinical diagnostics business, we sold off our entire position in Idexx due to the lower-than-expected recovery of anticipated clinic visits. For Workday, due to uncertainty in the macro environment, Workday's customer companies, especially small and medium-sized businesses, are considering to reduce their IT investments. This led to concerns about the slowdown in growth of Workday's product, and made us decide to completely sell our position in Workday.

Investment Outlook

We believe the recent macro-economic data reinforced our current expectations that the Fed has finished its rate hiking cycle and will move towards cuts in the second half of this year. There is enough evidence that the economy is slowing and inflation pressures are easing.

While excess savings in Households have exhausted, forward-looking labour market indicators such as hiring rates and wage growth show the slowdown of the economy. There are also signs of distress from low income consumers such as rising default rates on credit cards and auto loans among the low income segment.

At the same time, we believe a hard landing seems the less likely outcome as both households and the corporate sector did not over borrow. In other words, they have been protected from Fed rate hikes by locking in low rates on 30-year mortgages and longerterm corporate bonds. As current high interest rates have been less painful than usual, we believe the economy can slow gradually and bring down inflation without triggering a recession. As for the AI enthusiasm, we believe AI will potentially boost GDP growth through productivity improvements as we experienced during the internet revolution, which eventually resulted in about a 1 percentage point per year boost to productivity. Although still in its early days, AI is already resulting in cost structure improvements for some companies. For example, computer programming and coding groups have reported dramatic increases in productivity.

At the same time, we are getting more constructive to Japan. In March, the Bank of Japan raised interest rates for the first time in 17 years and will likely raise rates further but gradually. The economic outlook is improving with support from recovering manufacturing activity and the China outlook is becoming more supportive while the weak Japanese yen supports inbound tourism. At the same time, corporate reform has gained significant momentum with regulators showing that 63% of companies have disclosed initiatives to reduce the cost of capital and enhance valuations.

Regarding portfolio construction, we will work hard to identify companies with balance sheet resilience, good management, and operational agility. We believe themes such as generative AI technology, Digital Transformation, cyber security, and decarbonization remain attractive. The pandemic has accelerated many emerging technology trends and has changed working styles as well as consumer behaviours. Beneficiaries will include not just technology companies but also any company that effectively uses data and new technologies.

Performance Commentary

For the six months ended 30th June, 2024, the Sub-Fund returned 14.46% compared with the benchmark return of 12.56%, thereby outperforming the benchmark by 1.90%.

The Japanese stock market appreciated during the first half of 2024. The benchmark index rose 12.6% over this review period, during which it gained 11.9% in the first quarter (January to March) followed by a slight further gain of 0.6% in the second quarter (April to June) in local currency terms. The benchmark underperformed relative to the TOPIX Index, which recorded a strong rally of 20.1% over the same review period. In the first quarter, the Nikkei 225 Index reached a new record high for the first time in over 34 years. It last traded near this level back in December 1989 around the apex of Japan's economic bubble. Among small-cap stocks, value stocks performed well due to expectations of improvements in management attitudes and capital efficiency, including a trend towards strengthening of shareholder returns. In the second quarter, the Japanese equity market was relatively directionless, but a last-minute rally toward the end of June helped the index to extend its positive returns. In the absence of fresh catalysts to generate some immediate upside in the market, investor enthusiasm seems to have softened. As for small-cap stocks, value stocks remained strong following on from the previous quarter due to expectations for improved management efficiency, including efforts to strengthen shareholder returns.

Sector allocation had a positive effect on the relative performance for the review period. While the overweight position in the Electric Power & Gas sector and underweight position in the Foods sector added value, underweight positions in the Non-Ferrous Metal sector and Machinery sector detracted from the relative performance.

Stock selection had a positive effect on the relative performance. Positive stock selection contributions came from positions in Kyushu Electric Power (9508) in the Electric Power & Gas sector and The Japan Steel Works (5631) in the Machinery sector. Meanwhile, the absence of a position in Fujikura (5803) in the Non-Ferrous Metals sector and Septeni (4293) in the Services sector had a negative impact on the Sub-Fund's performance.

Kyushu Electric Power's stock price rose along with the restoration of a JPY50 dividend per share ahead of forecasts and on expectations that demand for electricity in the Kyushu region will increase due to an a growing the number of semiconductor plants and other factors. Japan Steel Works rallied in recognition of the growth of the defense-related equipment business due to the expansion of Japan's own defense budget and the long-term growth potential of the nuclear power business due to the reevaluation of nuclear power generation mainly in Europe. Fujikura's share price soared due amid expectations that the growth of optical components for data centers in North America would be the driving force. However, the Sub-Fund did not own Fujikura, and this detracted from the relative performance. Septeni's share price declined after its financial results for the January-March 2024 period fell short of market expectations. Septeni is expected to increase its share in the Internet advertising market through synergies with its parent company, the Dentsu Group, so we will continue to hold the position in the stock.

In this review period, we increased the weighting of Broadleaf in the Information & Communication sector. The company holds large market shares in several businesses related to the automobile aftermarket in Japan, such as car maintenance and parts dealers. Given the company's medium- to long-term growth potential, we concluded that the stock is attractively valued at the current share price. On the other hand, we have sold part of Kyushu Electric Power position to take profits after the stock price had risen sharply.

Investment Outlook

In the first half of 2024, the RNS index rose by 12.6%, the Russell Nomura Small Growth Index gained 5.0%, and the Russell Nomura Small Value Index rallied 17.6%. Value stocks led the market, driven in particular by pressure from the Tokyo Stock Exchange (TSE) to improve capital efficiency. The valuation gap between small-cap growth and value stocks has narrowed over the last few years, and the excessively high valuations of growth stocks have declined gradually. However, considering the broad progress in measures to improve the capital efficiency of Japanese companies, supported by intensifying demands from the TSE and pressure from activist investors, value stocks still look attractive today. Our portfolio has a barbell structure in terms of its exposure to value and growth stocks (i.e. no particular style bias), but we have maintained a position with a tilt towards value. While we maintain this positioning, we expect it to normalize very slowly if value stocks continue to outperform. We will continue to base our investment decisions on thorough fundamental analysis. At the end of June, the Price-to-Book Ratio (PBR) of the benchmark RNS Index was 1.13 and the portfolio's PBR was 1.00 (Source: Nomura Asset Management).

We will actively continue to seek out companies whose stock prices are currently judged to be trading below their "intrinsic value". We will select stocks from a wide range of industries, particularly companies that have not received much attention from the market despite their excellent business strategies, companies where management has shown signs of change due to internal reforms, and companies where capital efficiency is expected to improve due to changes in their attitude toward shareholder returns. In the Japanese stock market, we have seen increasing involvement of activist funds. Year by year, traditional asset management companies are engaging more with listed companies, and there is increasing demand to improve capital efficiency. In addition to the corporate governance code, external pressure has led to a gradual rise in the number of small-cap companies that are working to improve corporate governance and investor relations while adopting a more shareholder-friendly management approach. We continue to focus on companies with rich cash flows, and we also emphasize progress in improving the governance of Japanese companies. This includes issues such as the dual listing of parent and subsidiary companies.

While we tend to focus on determining whether it is possible to maintain long-term sustainable growth and a high ROIC (return on invested capital) in order to identify the "intrinsic investment value" of a company, we are also paying attention to whether it is possible to maintain or improve ROE (Return on Equity) through appropriate capital policies. The main points of this analysis are summarised in our assessment of how competitive the company is (i.e., its strengths and weaknesses). In addition to analysing the strengths of business operations, we also place importance on analysing what we call the "vitality" of a company, such as the quality of management leadership and employee awareness. In addition to analysing financial statements, which are the result of management actions, we believe that stable investment performance can be achieved over the long term by conducting careful research and analysis of companies from the viewpoint of management quality.

Performance Commentary

For the six months ended 30th June, 2024, the Sub-Fund returned 6.71%, compared with the benchmark return of 7.49%, thereby underperforming the benchmark by 0.78%.

Emerging markets equities advanced during the first half of 2024 but trailed developed markets. Excitement around artificial intelligence and expectations for interest rate cuts by major central banks helped fuel the rally, but mixed inflation data and a likely shallower trajectory for cuts limited gains. Stock selection in the financials and utilities sectors drove the portfolio's relative underperformance, along with an overweight to health care. In contrast, stock selection in information technology contributed on a relative basis, along with a beneficial underweight to materials and stock selection in communication services. From a geographic perspective, overweight allocations to Brazil, Hong Kong and Mexico weighed on relative results, partially offset by contribution from stock selection in South Korea, China and South Africa. The single-largest individual detractor was YDUQS Participacoes, the Brazil-based private sector, post-secondary education services provider. Analysts trimmed earnings estimates due to an expected sales slowdown, as well as the firm's rising bad debt and marketing expenses. We exited the position. The leading contributor was chipmaker SK Hynix. Shares benefited from strong high bandwidth memory demand and a recovery in commodity memory prices following production cuts, fuelling an improved memory price outlook and higher price assumptions. Consensus raised earnings forecasts to reflect higher-than-expected chip prices.

Investment Outlook

While emerging markets (EM) equities have trailed developed markets (DM) stocks thus far in 2024, the economic backdrop continues to be supportive of EM, and we have a constructive outlook on the region. With inflation pressure lessening and monetary policy easing in its early stages, EM economies are forecast to grow more than twice the rate of DM. Meanwhile, EM stocks are trading at a historically high discount to their DM counterparts, based on forward price to earnings.

Though the Fed's higher-for-longer stance has deterred aggressive moves by EM central banks, we anticipate a gradual broadening of easing in the second half of the year as disinflation progresses and conditions materialize for U.S. policy easing.

China's economic recovery has been encouraging in 2024, as first-quarter GDP growth was faster than expected. We believe a continued recovery in exports and an acceleration of fiscal spending will support near-term growth. However, high-frequency data has shown some softness recently, suggesting that the domestic demand recovery has not fully found firm footing. The housing market continues to face downward price pressures from excess supply. Though the direction of property market policy is encouraging, we think housing activity will likely remain weak through the end of the year. Consensus estimates are increasingly less bearish on Chinese stocks, and the country's stock market was in positive territory through the first half of 2024.

The artificial intelligence theme and supportive electronics trends have lifted Asian EM in recent quarters, and we expect those trends will likely continue to spur earnings growth. Strong exports from South Korea and Taiwan are driving a continued expansion in electronics manufacturing activity. We expect the build-out of AI infrastructure to remain a growth catalyst and have seen signs of a recovery in regular servers.

Meanwhile, Latin American markets have underperformed in recent quarters, despite the fact that central banks in Brazil and Mexico began cutting their lending rates in 2023 and the first half of 2024. While the region's policymakers have become more cautious, economic growth has held up, and trends such as trade protectionism and sticky commodity prices are positives. Despite post-election volatility in Mexico, supportive economic factors, such as nearshoring and remittances, remain in place. In Brazil, economic activity also remains resilient with private consumption supported by the tightness in the labour market.

Performance Commentary

For the six months ended 30th June, 2024, the Sub-Fund returned 20.82% compared with the benchmark return of 22.11%, thereby underperforming the benchmark by 1.29%.

Broad U.S. stock indices powered higher in the first half of the year. Returns were mostly driven by stocks at the forefront of artificial intelligence, either making the semiconductor chips and equipment needed for AI or those expected to benefit from using AI in their businesses. Stock gains were dominated by large-cap stocks, especially those select large-cap growth stocks that benefited from enthusiasm about AI. Large- and mid-cap value stocks posted modest gains, but small-cap value declined.

Financials detracted from relative performance. Block was a key detractor. The financial services firm lagged despite posting better-than-expected quarterly results, driven by Square, its digital payments division. Investors may have been concerned about Block's heavy investment in cryptocurrencies, and there were reports that the company's compliance policies were undergoing federal scrutiny. An overweight allocation to the beverages industry hampered performance in the consumer staples sector. Advanced Micro Devices was a significant individual detractor. The stock had soared along with other AI companies and was vulnerable to profit-taking. It lagged on quarterly earnings that were just in line with expectations. We believe the chipmaker is positioned for solid long-term growth in data center graphics processing units/AI. Tesla stock underperformed on concerns about slowing vehicle delivery and revenue growth going forward. Despite near-term struggles in a challenging macroeconomic environment, we continue to believe the electric vehicle maker is a compelling long-term investment. The stock of the subscription-based business software company salesforce.com fell sharply after it missed revenue expectations and offered weak forward guidance. We continue to see growth and margin expansion opportunities for the company.

Stock selection in the communication services sector benefited performance. Netflix reported better-than-expected revenue and earnings. The streaming video service's strong subscriber growth has been driven by a crackdown on password sharing and its recently added tier with advertisements. Elsewhere, not owning Apple was helpful as the consumer electronics company's stock lagged, especially in the first quarter, on sluggish iPhone sales and concerns that it has been slow to move into AI. The stock price of NVIDIA, a leading maker of graphics processing units, continued to soar on the strength of demand for its chips in AI applications. In May, NVIDIA reported quarterly revenue and earnings that beat already-high estimates and raised forward guidance. Chipotle Mexican Grill was a top contributor. The fast-casual restaurant chain's stock jumped after reporting what many believed was an excellent quarter, with strong revenues, margins and profits. Additionally, Chipotle gave upbeat guidance on future unit growth and margins.

Investment Outlook

We think several secular trends remain in place. Market uncertainty is likely to remain high as investors shift their focus from Fed interest rate policy to fundamentals such as the pace of economic and corporate earnings growth. Consensus earnings forecasts for 2024 and 2025 predict solid growth. Even using these lofty projections, valuations on large-cap stocks look expensive. Having said that, we acknowledge that the earnings of a handful of large growth companies have been excellent. Add it all up, and we are looking for companies benefiting from enduring, secular business trends capable of growing earnings rapidly. Examples include digital advertising and business transformation, the reliance on the cloud and mobile, process automation and electric vehicle adoption, among others.

Today's returns depend on tomorrow's earnings. Corporate earnings are key because stock returns are a function of earnings growth, dividend yield and the price investors are willing to pay for these earnings. Companies recently issued earnings guidance that pushed up full-year 2024 estimates. This reflects a stable economy with firms able to navigate the current environment despite significantly higher interest rates. However, the market is forward-looking, trading on expectations of future growth. For this reason, we expect investors to focus more on 2025 earnings estimates, which we think look a bit high. Future earnings depend on the broader economy and Fed rate policy. The more restrictive the Fed stays, the more difficult the environment for future earnings growth.

Democratization of technology continues. We recognize the near-term uncertainty about interest rates, corporate earnings and the state of the broader economy. As ever, we believe it is preferable to focus on companies whose earnings growth is driven by innovation and industry disruption rather than depend on the economic cycle. For example, we can cite technology infrastructure, software and tools previously only available to the largest enterprises being made available to smaller businesses and even micromerchants.

Individual security selection preferable to binary market calls. There is a tendency to think in binary terms about potential Fed rate changes and economic data points. However, we would argue that individual companies respond differently to macroeconomic conditions. Indeed, we are finding opportunities in diverse companies developing new products and technologies that are transforming entire sectors and industries. We don't view these as top-down solutions. Rather, we believe the best approach is to rely on bottom-up, fundamental research to identify individual companies innovating and reimagining their competitive landscape. That is why we buy dynamic, innovative growth companies with healthy balance sheets and cash flows that we believe can improve throughout the economic cycle.

Performance Commentary

For the six months ended 30th June, 2024, the Sub-Fund returned 15.59% compared with the benchmark return of 20.14%, thereby underperforming the benchmark by 4.55%.

The Japanese equity market rose significantly throughout the January to March quarter of the review period, supported by active buying by overseas investors.

Of the Sub-Fund holdings, Tokyo Electron added value. Its stock price appreciated significantly amid expectations of a recovery in the overall semiconductor memory market. The recovery was in response to rising demand for high-bandwidth memory technology associated with semiconductors used in artificial intelligence applications. Meanwhile, Obic detracted from the portfolio's relative performance due to a lack of buying pressure on defensive growth stocks and concerns about a slowdown in quarterly sales orders.

In terms of investment activity, we added a new position in Niterra (formerly NGK) to the portfolio. The company has contributed to SDG No. 12, "Responsible Consumption and Production," by extending the useful life of precious metals used in automotive components like spark plugs. Furthermore, we judged that the company will be able to maintain its high Cash Flow Return On Invested Capital (CFROIC) level over the medium term due to demand for increasingly fuel efficient vehicles. Meanwhile, we exited the position in Shimano after its medium-term CFROIC outlook was slashed due to concerns about prolonged deterioration due to a waning base effect from the pandemic.

The Japanese equity market remained mostly flat in the April to June quarter of the review period due to the global interest rate environment.

Of the Sub-Fund holdings, Hitachi added value. Supported by growing demand for data centers to handle AI systems, its stock price rose thanks to a strong performance from its mainstay IT business and Hitachi Energy. Meanwhile, the position in Denso had a negative impact on the relative performance after its stock price fell due to its operating income from financial year 2023 falling short of company forecasts, which deepened uncertainty about whether the company could achieve its targets for financial year 2024.

In terms of investment activity, we added new positions in Marubeni, Toyota Motor, and Daihen. Marubeni has businesses operations related to food, agricultural chemicals, fertilizers, electric power, and infrastructure. It has contributed to SDG No. 2, "Zero Hunger," and we concluded that the firm would be able to maintain a high CFROIC level over the medium term. Toyota has made contributions to SDG No. 13, "Climate Action" via sales of hybrid vehicles, and we believe it will also be able to maintain high CFROIC levels over the medium term. Finally, Daihen engages in power equipment, factory automation equipment, and plasma generation power sources. The company has made contributions to SDG No. 7 "Affordable and Clean Energy" and 11 "Sustainable Cities and Communities." We determined it will also be able to maintain high CFROIC levels over the medium term in accordance with growing demand for electrical power and semiconductors. Meanwhile, we exited the positions in M3 and Rinnai. M3's CFROIC outlook was lowered due to increasing concerns for deteriorating growth potential in its medical platform business due to fewer Covid-19 cases. Rinnai's CFROIC forecast was also lowered in light of slower growth prospects for the Chinese economy and higher costs for the firm's US operations.

Investment Outlook

We expect the TOPIX to fluctuate in a range between 2,480-3,140 points over the next quarter.

Monetary tightening measures over the past two and a half years in Europe and the United States have helped to curb inflation and are starting to slow the global economy overall. Against this backdrop, although the US economy has been stronger than expected and uncertainties remain surrounding monetary policy, including the possibility of delay in interest rate cuts, world economic output is expected to move towards a recovery in the medium term as inflation subsides.

Stock markets appear to be pricing in a medium-term recovery. Accordingly, in the short term depending on developments in the global economy and inflation, the timing and extent of monetary policy and economic recovery may change, ultimately affecting stock markets. Against this backdrop, we believe there are sectors and stocks that still offer attractive investment opportunities given the medium-term outlook.

Corporate performance and valuation

Operating profit forecasts for the Russell Nomura Large Cap Index (excluding financial institutions) suggest an increase of 11.6% for the financial year to March 2024. The assumed exchange rate is JPY150.0/USD and JPY160.0/EUR. The expected TOPIX EPS on a top-down forecast basis is 171.33. At a TOPIX level of 2850 points, the expected P/E ratio is 16.6 with an actual PBR for the financial year to March 2023 of 1.49.

Investment strategy

We believe it is necessary to identify changes in social structure such as public awareness of work style shifts and digital investment brought about by the pandemic; changes in economic security policy due to increasing geopolitical risks such as those relating to energy, raw materials, and critical components; and changes in environmental policies in Japan, the United States, and Europe. It will also be necessary to review the profitability outlook for the groups of stocks in which we invest.

Over the past few years, the economy has suffered a downturn due to heightened geopolitical risks and global monetary tightening. Although there are signs of reversal in some regions, the recovery in the global economy as a whole has been sluggish. Against this background, the market will challenge the business execution ability of firms. We will continue to closely monitor the capabilities of firms on which the strategy will focus.

The portfolio's holdings have strong business execution capabilities, and we believe stable profit growth in the future could lead to steady investment returns. In addition, in light of the recent shift in focus towards ESG themes, it has become increasingly important to expand business initiatives based on the social value of products and services. We believe the portfolio is composed of highly attractive investments. We will continue to focus on improving returns in the medium term by appropriately rebalancing (adjusting the investment weightings) in reference to short-term stock price overreactions. Meanwhile, we will assess the degree of corporate social value created in the medium to long term and the levels of CFROIC that can be realized in the future.

Performance Commentary

For the six months ended 30th June, 2024, the Sub-Fund returned 19.09% compared with the benchmark return of 20.14%, thereby underperforming the benchmark by 1.05%.

The Japanese stock market rose significantly over the first half of calendar year 2024 along with an unexpectedly strong U.S. economy, the weakening yen, and the Tokyo Stock Exchange's ongoing requests for companies to remedy cases where stocks are trading at PBRs of less than 1. In addition to the market favoring value stocks, gains were more pronounced in large-cap stocks as well as in economically sensitive sectors such as finance, commodities, electronics, and automobiles.

Of the Sub-Fund holdings, Asics added the most value. Investors took a favorable view of its profit growth and its strengthening shareholder returns by improving profitability via concentrating resources on profitable businesses. Obayashi was the second leading contributor after raising its ROE level targets and drastically revising capital policy. NEC was in third place following improved profitability in its domestic IT service business.

The underperformance of Yamato Holdings, Hitachi, and NOF had the largest negative impact on the portfolio's relative performance. There were concerns for Yamato Holdings about the weakness in the number of units handled by its parcel delivery service. Meanwhile, the absence of a position in Hitachi weighed on the relative performance due to favorable growth potential in its generative AI business. Finally, there were concerns about the short-term weakness of NOF's drug delivery system (DDS) business, which is expected to grow rapidly in the medium term, helped also by the dissipating high base effect from last year.

In terms of investment activity, we opened new positions in ten companies and liquidated the positions in eleven.

Largest purchases

Sumitomo Electric Industries' business growth may be able to surpass its consensus earnings forecasts based on expectations for improved profitability in its wiring harness business and growth in sales of information and communications-related components, such as those used in data centers. We also believe the company is making a particular contribution to the "Mitigate Natural Capital Depletion" impact goal. The company has defined 'green contribution sales' as being from a group of products that assist in combating climate change. Therefore, the company aims to contribute through the increased sales of these products. Sumitomo Electric's products include ultra-high voltage DC cables that contribute to more widespread renewable energy, largescale storage batteries, and general adversarial network devices, which help to reduce power consumption at wireless base stations.

We have a positive view of Mitsui Fudosan after the company announced a policy to replace fixed assets and strengthen its shareholder returns. Given the low office vacancy rates and expected rent hikes, we can expect stable EPS growth and significant room for the stock's re-evaluation. The impact goal is to "Mitigate Natural Capital Depletion," and the company is contributing to the environment by working to reduce the environmental impact of its entire supply chain by improving the environmental efficiency of new and existing properties, utilizing renewable energy, reducing CO2 emissions during construction, and providing green options to tenants.

We had a positive view of Chiba Bank, and we expect it to produce a solid performance on the back of an increase in bank lending and its aggressive efforts to return profits to shareholders. In addition, the Bank of Japan's monetary policy adjustments and accelerated sales of cross-shareholdings by banks appear to have driven relatively significant improvements in earnings and returns. We also believe the company is making a particular contribution to the "Mitigate Natural Capital Depletion" impact goal via consulting, engagement, and sustainable finance for supporting client de-carbonization initiatives.

Largest sales

Daito Trust Construction, which was the largest sales transaction, and JTEKT, the third largest, are both expected to remain undervalued in light of their medium-term earnings growth potential. For MinebeaMitsumi Co., Ltd., we concluded that it would take time to reevaluate their near-term earnings potential, as it will be increasingly difficult for the company to outperform the consensus stock market earnings forecasts.

Investment Outlook

Monetary tightening measures imposed over the past two and a half years in Europe and the United States have helped to curb inflation and are starting to slow the global economy overall. Against this backdrop, although the US economy has been stronger than expected and uncertainties remain surrounding monetary policy, including the possibility of delay in interest rate cuts, world economic output is expected to move towards a recovery in the medium term as inflation subsides.

Accordingly, in the short term, depending on developments in the global economy and inflation, the timing and extent of monetary policy and economic recovery may change, ultimately affecting stock markets. Against this backdrop, we believe there are sectors and stocks that still offer attractive investment opportunities given the medium-term outlook.

We believe companies with business operations that can contribute to achieving a sustainable society can improve their enterprise value over the long term. We invest in these companies based on the philosophy that they are investment opportunities that contribute to strengthening social initiatives and can achieve high investment performance. In terms of contributions, we value a carbon neutral society, the conservation of natural capital, and achieving a healthy, prosperous society. We are investing in companies that contribute to these areas.

In selecting stocks, we base decisions on individual fundamentals in light of changes in the external environment. In this context, we will focus on identifying equities whose valuation levels are cheap relative to fundamentals among firms with impressive medium- to long-term growth potential, which are highly competitive and which are expected to undergo structural changes.

At present, we are focusing on companies that are reforming their balancing sheets as well as business portfolios, those which are expected to benefit from increased semiconductor- and AI-related demand, and those which can improve pricing strategies under inflationary conditions.

Performance Commentary

For the six months ended 30th June, 2024, the Sub-Fund returned 9.83% compared with the benchmark return of 8.48%, thereby outperforming the benchmark by 1.35%.

For country/asset allocation, the overweight position in Korea added value to relative performance over the period while the overweight position in Hong Kong and underweight position in India detracted value.

As for stock selection, in China, ENN Energy underperformed due to concern for weaker retail gas demand as a result of weak economy. Lenovo detracted the value due to concern for weak PC demand. Our overweight exposure to Alibaba added the value as the stock underperformed under sluggish domestic consumption. In Australia, the underweight position in resource sector added value as the stocks fell on the concern for weak commodity demand in China.

In Korea, the overweight position in SK Hynix was main positive contributor. The stock outperformed during the review period on expectation for price recovery of DRAM and more revenue contribution from memory chips for AI application. The Taiwan portfolio outperformed its benchmark. The Technology sector outperformed the non-tech sectors during the review period as the earnings outlook remained positive and its valuation had been rerated. Our overweight position in technology bell weather stocks like TSMC, Chroma ATE and Delta Electronics have also contributed much to the outperformance.

In India, Infosys underperformed after they announce financial year 2024 (from April 2023 to March 2024) revenue growth/EBIT margin guidance which missed street expectation. Macrotech Developers outperformed backed by resilient property sales.

DBS Group (Singapore) underperformed due to concern for detraction of margins. ASMPT (Hong Kong) added the value as the firm receives strong order from its semiconductor clients for AI chip test.

Investment Outlook

The US markets continue to melt up, with strong corporate earnings results compensating for any signs of softening economic data. Here is a market that continues to deliver better results with every passing period and where a virtuous cycle has evolved with an overwhelming presence in the global equity universe and a cushion of more than 6 trillion US dollars still sitting in the money markets. Admittedly, the markets have been lopsided, with the emergence of yet another star name, Nvidia, which has now surpassed all others to become the world's largest company in terms of market cap. As the elections approach, it could create a bit of volatility and some uncertainty with respect to policies, but currently it seems clear that there is no recession on the horizon and fundamentally nothing to shake up the markets. Other developed markets continue to look relatively far less attractive.

Asian markets are probably less homogenous than they have ever been, and it is all about thematic differences – AI in Taiwan, semiconductors and "value up" policies in Korea and unfortunately precious little of note in the smaller markets.

The big news and noise within Asia was the Indian market, which finally saw the outcome of the long election process. Contrary to expectations, although the results favoured Modi, they failed to deliver the expected simple majority that the BJP alone was expected to achieve or an overwhelming majority for the NDA coalition. With such a close result, the outcome did create a flutter of volatility in the market; but ultimately, the prospect of a stable government with an ability to last out a five-year term with Modi as the Prime Minister was enough to bring about a swift recovery and a further upsurge in the markets. Sentiment even swung back to euphoric levels. With the all-important election outcome, the biggest risk to the Indian economy's strong growth momentum and market run up has been averted. Aside from the risk of some unforeseen policy error, it will be business as usual. There will surely be a drawdown in this market from some level, but India does still offer the best long-term large and structural growth story with an enormous number of investment opportunities. We will keep our large overweight position. Again, we considered taking profits on Taiwanese stocks, which continue to ride the AI wave and now trade at historic valuations, but we prefer to rotate our holdings in favor of laggards. As mentioned above, the most challenging part of the Asian markets has been the disappointment from the smaller Asean markets. Indonesia has added to that weakness while Thailand continues to slide. The former has started to see earnings downgrades and with a change in policy direction, we have seen currency fragility remerge. While valuations are cheaper, there are no near term catalysts and so we decided to remove the long-standing overweight allocation. We see no light at the end of the tunnel yet for Thailand as political issues plague the economy and corporate earnings revisions remain negative. Malaysia has become one of the brighter spots in this region. Supported by our excellent stock selection, the otherwise neutral weight has moved to an overweight, and we have now validated this overweight exposure. The Korean market has continually offered thematic opportunities - it was cyclicals and EVs last year and the "value up" policy theme this year in addition to the recovery in the memory and the AI driven semiconductor stocks. The overall market has been dragged down by the weak currency and the heavyweight Samsung, but there are still opportunities there. We are moving to a neutral position in Korea using the funding from the Asean markets. A rollover in AI/semiconductor/technology would be the biggest risk to the portfolio at this point in time.

For the six months ended 30th June, 2024, the Sub-Fund returned 3.92% compared with the benchmark return of 3.73%, thereby outperforming the benchmark by 0.19%.

Security selection was the driver of relative performance over the three months, with strong contributions from the Communications and Real Estate sectors, where the exposure to Around Town and Grand City were highly beneficial.

Asset allocation was negative, primarily driven by a drag from a small working cash allocation and also the overall underweight to Real Estate (although, as mentioned above, this was offset by selection within that sector).

Investment Outlook

We are committed to having zero exposure to emerging markets and non-investment grade-rated issuers at all times. We also limit our positioning in peripheral Eurozone countries as the portfolio could unintentionally become driven by macroeconomic sentiment to that region, irrespective of the quality of the underlying companies.

We find significant value in the Utility and Telecommunications sectors. We also hold notable positions across high-quality energy issuers.

Issuers such as AusNet, BP, Rogers Communications and Southern Company all contribute heavily to the composition of the Sub-Fund. We are confident that further outperformance will be realised from these holdings in 2024.

More broadly, we are overweight defensive issuers that have limited fundamental sensitivity to the economic outlook and whose bonds are mispriced, particularly with respect to extension risk.

Performance Commentary

For the six months ended 30th June, 2024, the Sub-Fund returned 2.26% compared with the benchmark return of 2.60%, and therefore underperformed the benchmark by -0.34%.

Portfolio performance in the first quarter was driven by positive sector allocation, dampened by idiosyncratic credit events. Sectors that contributed to positive relative performance included Support Services, Cable & Satellite TV, and Recreation & Travel. Outperformance in Support Services was driven by our overweight in Staples, which showed signs of continued recovery as the return to the office picked up steam across the US. In Recreation & Travel, our overweight in Carnival continued to trade well as bookings and demand remained strong. Key sector detractors included Health Services, Wireline Telecom, and Specialty Retail. In Wireline Telecom, our overweight in Altice France detracted from performance as the company reported somewhat disappointing earnings and guidance, but more importantly, completely changed the tone of their engagement with bondholders. The company is now looking to extract material haircuts from bondholders in order to deleverage its capital structure. In Specialty Retail, Carvana reported better-than-expected earnings, while we continued to be underweight the name as we are cautious on the company's ability to be sustainably profitable in a competitive and mature industry.

Portfolio relative performance in the second quarter was boosted by positive security selection in the B and CCC segments of the market, while exposure to BBs detracted. Sectors that contributed the most to positive relative performance included Cable & Satellite TV, Wireline Telecom, and Tech Hardware & Equipment. In Cable & Satellite TV, Altice USA bonds rallied in June as bondholder cooperation agreements were finalized and holders looked to accumulate positions. In Wireline Telecom, Telecom Italia completed an exchange of bonds across its capital structure in May, and the new bonds traded well. In Technology, underweighting distressed network infrastructure provider CommScope contributed to relative results. Key sector detractors included Pharmaceuticals, Specialty Retail, and Health Services. In Pharmaceuticals, Bausch bonds rallied after the consummation of a cooperation agreement between bondholders in early May, but we have maintained our underweight, given uncertainties around the company's plans to spin out its eye business and concerns around liability management the company may undertake. In Health Services, medical supply distributor Owens & Minor has rallied meaningfully since October, but dipped late in the quarter as recent research indicated GLP-1 drugs may significantly reduce obstructive sleep apnea (OSA), thereby impacting demand for OSA treatments and devices.

Investment Outlook

Looking forward, whether growth can remain stable is a key question, along with inflation and whether the Fed can begin to normalize interest rates. Late in the month, Treasuries sold off as President Biden's poor debate performance was seen as increasing the likelihood of a Trump victory in November, which is viewed as potentially inflationary. While this outcome is a possibility, there are many scenarios surrounding the election, fiscal and monetary policy to consider. In general, we do expect continued disinflation, which should allow for one to two Fed cuts in 2024 and more next year, while the roughly 8% yield on the US high yield market creates a good foundation for an attractive total return.

Performance Commentary

For the six months ended 30th June, 2024, the Sub-Fund returned 3.73% compared with the benchmark return of 3.85%, and therefore underperformed the benchmark by -0.12%.

Treasury volatility throughout the first six months of 2024 remained elevated and resulted in a meaningful performance headwind during that period. US 10-year Treasury yields began the year at 3.9%, rose as much as 80 basis points to 4.7% in early May, and finished the first half of 2024 at 4.4%. At the core of this rate volatility was economic data that gave inconsistent inflationary signals to the market.

On the positive side, credit spreads at the index level posted strong performance. JPMorgan Corporate Emerging Market Bond Index began the year with an index spread to worst level of 280 basis points and rallied over 60 basis points to 219 basis points as of 30th June, 2024. The strong credit market performance was driven by a combination of supportive technical factors, attractive valuations and a benign credit fundamental environment.

The modest net-of-fees underperformance was principally interest rate driven. Sector and country weighting, as well as credit selection, were broadly performance supportive. Strong credit selection and allocation in the Metals & Mining sector were positive contributors. Furthermore, security selection in the Oil & Gas sector also contributed positively. Underweights in Financials also added value. Exposure to Real Estate and security selection within that sector detracted from relative returns.

Investment Outlook

We expect emerging markets hard currency bonds to deliver high-single-digit returns over the next twelve months with attractive all-in yields and coupons. We believe EM economic growth remains supportive with a more resilient than anticipated US economy and China taking some targeted measures to boost growth.

We continue to believe that corporate credit metrics will remain solid at current near-decade-peak levels, while default rates continue to normalize and technical factors are particularly favorable.

Meanwhile, valuations remain compelling, particularly in EM high yield credits, while strong market technicals continue to favor the credit spread tightening narrative in the emerging markets corporate segment.

Performance Commentary

For the six months ended 30th June, 2024, the Sub-Fund returned 0.34% compared with the benchmark return of -1.39%, thereby outperforming the benchmark by 1.73%.

MSCI China A Net Return Index saw a decline in January due to disappointing macroeconomic indicators in China, such as lowerthan-expected real GDP for the fourth quarter of 2023. After that, a rebound followed on expectations for a series of measures to support market from Chinese authorities, particularly regulations on short selling and efforts to enhance the value of listed companies. However, concerns arose in June with Europe imposing additional tariffs on Chinese electric vehicles and the widening decline in new house prices in China, leading to a slight overall decline year to date.

Attribution analysis shows that stock selection effect, sector allocation effect, and risk factor effect were all positive.

In stock selection, our overweight on China Shenhua Energy (Energy) and overweight on Agricultural Bank of China (Financials) which were highly evaluated based on our proprietary quantitative model, made positive contribution. While, negative came from overweight in Henan Zhongfu Industrial (Materials) which was highly evaluated based on our model. Breaking down contribution from the two models utilized, both the AI and the non-financial model positively affected while the AI model's contribution is higher.

As for risk factor effect, price momentum and low volatility characteristics affected positively.

In sector allocation, our overweight on Energy and Financials sectors contributed positively while the overweight on Health Care sector was negative factor of the relative performance.

Investment Outlook

In terms of the economic environment, we anticipate that the Chinese economy will begin to stabilize, although it is unlikely to meet the target economic growth rate. The National People's Congress announced in March that the target economic growth rate for 2024 will remain steady at around 5.0%. Achieving this target will be challenging considering the relatively unchanged fiscal budget size from the previous year. Despite the likelihood of missing the target, we believe the economy will move towards stabilization due to inventory adjustments, strong external demand, and government stimulus. However, there are two main risk factors to consider. The first is domestic demand, particularly in the housing market. If the housing market bubble bursts and prices start to decline, households may delay purchasing homes, leading to potential deflationary pressures and a negative impact on consumption. Additionally, the ongoing depreciation of the currency makes it unlikely that the People's Bank of China will implement expansionary monetary policies. The second risk factor is external demand, with concerns arising regarding the potential decoupling from China by other economies. This trend, fueled by conflicts over semiconductor exports and overproduction, highlights the need for additional domestic demand stimulus measures to maintain stability in the Chinese economy.

In terms of our model's characteristics on risk factors, the model has tendency to have stocks with cheaper value, strong price momentum and low volatility compared to the benchmark at the end of June 2024. We understand that was because the China A-shares market was in downward trend in recent years, which led to stocks with those characteristics more attractive to the model by reflecting the recent price movement. Looking ahead to the end of 2024, there is a possibility that those characteristic will remain the same given the decelerated growth forecast of the country.

Besides, non-financial perspective will continue to be focused by investors through various aspects in our understanding. For example, in February 2024, three major stock exchanges in China (Shanghai, Shenzhen, and Beijing) introduced the new sustainability reporting guidelines, mandating issuers to disclose a wide range of ESG topics from 2026 onwards. Such initiatives are likely to generate interest in ESG investments, which aligns with our strategy considering such kind of aspects.

We will continue to manage the portfolio by appropriately reflecting our model's evaluation on stocks.

1. Summary of significant accounting policies

The principal accounting policies applied in the preparation of these financial statements are set out below.

Basis of preparation of financial statements

The financial statements presented are unaudited condensed financial statements for the half year ended 30th June, 2024. The unaudited condensed financial statements should be read in conjunction with the financial statements for the year ended 31st December, 2023 which were prepared in accordance with International Financial Reporting Standards ("IFRS") as adopted by the European Union and Irish statute comprising the Companies Act 2014, the requirements of the Central Bank UCITS Regulations and the European Communities (Undertakings for Collective Investment in Transferable Securities) Regulations, 2019 (as amended) (the "UCITS Regulations") and any regulations made thereafter.

Financial assets and financial liabilities at fair value through profit or loss

(a) Classification

The Fund has assessed the classification of financial instruments as at the date of initial application and has applied such classification retrospectively. Based on that assessment:

- All financial assets previously held at fair value continue to be measured at fair value.

- Debt instruments and equity instruments, are acquired for the purpose of generating short-term profit. Therefore, they meet the hold-for-trading criteria and are required to be measured at fair value through profit or loss.

- Financial assets previously classified as receivables are held to collect contractual cash flows and give rise to cash flows representing solely payments of principal and interest. Thus, such instruments continue to be measured at amortised cost under IFRS 9.

- The classification of financial liabilities under IFRS 9 remains broadly the same as under IAS39.

Impairment

IFRS 9 requires the Fund to record expected credit losses ("ECLs") on all of its debt securities, loans, trade receivables, either on a 12- month or lifetime basis. Given the limited exposure of the fund to credit risk, this amendment has not had a material impact on the financial statements. The Fund only holds trade receivables with no financing component and that have maturities of less than 12 months at amortised cost. Therefore, it has adopted an approach similar to the simplified approach to ECLs.

Hedge accounting

The Fund has not applied hedge accounting under IAS 39 nor will it apply hedge accounting under IFRS 9.

(b) Recognition/Derecognition

The Fund recognises a financial asset or a financial liability when, and only when, it becomes a party to the contractual provisions of the instrument. Purchases and sales of financial assets at fair value through profit or loss are recognised on trade date – the date on which the Fund commits to purchase or sell the financial instrument.

A financial asset (or, where applicable, part of a financial asset or a part of a group of similar financial assets) is derecognised where the rights to receive cash flows from the asset have expired, or the Fund has transferred its rights to receive cash flow from the asset, or has assumed an obligation to pay the received cash flows in full without material delay to a third party under a pass-through arrangement and either:

(a) the Fund has transferred substantially all of the risks and rewards of the asset.

Or

(b) the Fund has neither transferred nor retained substantially all the risk and rewards of the asset, but has transferred control of the asset.

1. Summary of significant accounting policies (continued)

Financial assets and financial liabilities at fair value through profit or loss (continued)

When the Fund has transferred its right to receive cash flows from an asset (or has entered into a pass-through arrangement), and has neither transferred nor retained substantially all of the risk and rewards of the asset nor transferred control of the asset, the asset is recognised to the extent of the Fund's continuing involvement in the asset. In that case, the fund also recognises an associated liability. The transferred asset and the associated liability are measured on a basis that reflects the rights and obligations that the fund has retained.

The Fund derecognises a financial liability when the obligation under the liability is discharged, cancelled or expired.

Realised fair value gains and losses on disposals of financial instruments are calculated using the average cost method for the Nomura Funds Ireland - India Equity Fund and the first in, first out method for the Nomura Funds Ireland - Japan Strategic Value Fund, the Nomura Funds Ireland - US High Yield Bond Fund, the Nomura Funds Ireland - Japan High Conviction Fund, the Nomura Funds Ireland - Asia Ex Japan High Conviction Fund, the Nomura Funds Ireland - Global Sustainable High Yield Bond Fund, the Nomura Funds Ireland - Global Dynamic Bond Fund, the Nomura Funds Ireland - Emerging Market Local Currency Debt Fund, the Nomura Funds Ireland - Asia High Yield Bond Fund, the Nomura Funds Ireland - Asia Investment Grade Bond Fund, the Nomura Funds Ireland - China Fund, the Nomura Funds Ireland - Global High Conviction Fund, the Nomura Funds Ireland - European High Yield Bond Fund, the Nomura Funds Ireland - Global Sustainable Equity Fund, the American Century Global Small Cap Equity Fund, the American Century Global Growth Equity Fund, the American Century Concentrated Global Growth Equity Fund, the American Century Emerging Markets Equity Fund, the Nomura Funds Ireland - Global Multi-Theme Equity Fund, the Nomura Funds Ireland - Japan Small Cap Equity Fund, the American Century Emerging Markets Sustainable Impact Equity Fund, the American Century US Focused Innovation Equity Fund, the Nomura Funds Ireland - Japan Sustainable Equity Growth Fund, the Nomura Funds Ireland - Japan Sustainable Equity Core Fund, the Nomura Funds Ireland - Asia Sustainable Equity Fund, the Nomura Funds Ireland - Corporate Hybrid Bond Fund, the Nomura Funds Ireland - US High Yield Bond Continuum Fund, the Nomura Funds Ireland - Emerging Market Corporate Bond Fund and the Nomura Funds Ireland - China A-Shares AI Quant Strategy Fund.

(c) Measurement

Financial assets and financial liabilities at fair value through profit or loss are recorded in the Statement of Financial Position at fair value. The main impact on measurement from the classification of liabilities under IFRS 9 relates to the element of gains and losses for financial liabilities designated as at fair value through profit or loss attributable to changes in credit risk. IFRS 9 requires that such element be recognised in other comprehensive income, unless this treatment creates or enlarged an accounting mismatch in profit or loss, in which case, all gains and losses on that liability (including the effects of changes in credit risk) should be presented in profit or loss. The Fund has not designated any financial liabilities at fair value through profit or loss. Therefore, this requirement has not had an impact on the Fund.

Transaction costs are expensed in the Statement of Comprehensive Income. Transaction costs are costs incurred to acquire financial assets or liabilities at fair value through profit or loss. They include fees and commissions paid to agents, advisers and brokers. Subsequent to initial recognition, all financial assets and financial liabilities at fair value through profit or loss are measured at fair value (see Note d).

Gains and losses arising from changes in the fair value of the 'financial assets or financial liabilities at fair value through profit or loss' category are presented in the Statement of Comprehensive Income in the period in which they arise. Dividend income from financial assets at fair value through profit or loss is recognised in the Statement of Comprehensive Income within operating income when the Fund's right to receive payments is established.

(d) Determination of fair value

Fair value is the amount for which an asset could be exchanged or a liability settled, between knowledgeable willing parties in an arm's length transaction. The fair value of financial instruments traded in active markets (such as trading securities) is based on quoted market prices at 3pm (Irish time) on the relevant dealing day. For the purpose of these financial statements, the quoted market price used is the quoted market prices at 3pm (Irish time) on the relevant dealing day. The fair value of financial instruments that are not traded in an active market is determined by using valuation techniques. The Sub-Funds use a variety of methods and make assumptions that are based on market conditions existing at each statement of financial position date.

Units or shares in collective investment schemes are valued at the bid quotation or if unavailable the latest available Net Asset Value or, if listed or traded on a regulated market, at the latest quoted trade price or the mid quotation or, if unavailable or unrepresentative, the latest available Net Asset Value as deemed relevant to the collective investment scheme.

Transactions and balances

Assets and liabilities denominated in currencies other than the functional currency of the Sub-Fund are translated into the functional currency at the exchange rates ruling at the statement of financial position date. Transactions in currencies other than the functional currency are translated into the functional currency at the exchange rates ruling at the dates of the transactions. Gains and losses on foreign exchange transactions are recognised in the Statement of Comprehensive Income in determining the result for the half year period. Proceeds from subscriptions and amounts paid for redemptions in currencies other than the functional currency are translated into the functional currency at the exchange rates ruling at the dates of the transactions.

Futures contracts

Upon entering into a futures contract, a Sub-Fund is required to deposit with its futures broker, an amount of cash in accordance with the initial margin requirements of the broker or exchange. Futures contracts are valued using quoted daily settlement prices established by the exchange on which they trade. The Sub-Fund and the broker agree to exchange an amount of cash equal to the daily fluctuations in the value of the futures contract ("variation margin").

For open futures, changes in the value of the contract are recognised as unrealised gains or losses by "marking-to-market" the value of the contract at the statement of financial position date. When the contract is closed, the difference between the proceeds (or cost) of the closing transactions and the original transaction is recorded as a realised gain or loss in the Statement of Comprehensive Income.

Forward foreign currency contracts

All forward foreign currency contract commitments are marked to market at the applicable translation rates and any resulting unrealised gains or losses are recorded in the Statement of Comprehensive Income. The Sub-Fund records realised gains or losses upon closing of the forward foreign currency contracts. Where the Sub-Fund enters into forward foreign currency contracts as a way of managing foreign exchange risk for specific unit classes, gains and losses from these contracts are allocated solely to the corresponding unit classes. Purchases and sales of forward foreign currency contracts having the same notional value, settlement date and counterparty are generally offset and any realised gains or losses are recognised on settlement date. Forward foreign currency contracts may result in credit exposure to the counterparty.

Swaps

Swap agreements are privately negotiated agreements between a Sub-Fund and a counterparty to exchange or swap investment cash flows, assets, foreign currencies, market-linked returns or other identified amounts at specified future intervals. In connection with these agreements, securities or cash may be identified as collateral in accordance with the terms of the respective swap agreements to provide assets of value and recourse in the event of default or bankruptcy/insolvency.

Swaps are marked-to-market daily based upon quotations received from counterparties or valued using a pricing service and in other cases based upon calculations using valuation models.

The significant assumptions and the formula behind the calculations used in the valuation models are defined explicitly in the individual term sheets. Generally, the total returns are determined by the daily index level or daily price multiplied by a predetermined notional amount and the financing portion is built-in to create an all-in valuation.

Changes in valuations, if any, are recorded as unrealised gains or losses. Payments received or made are recorded as realised gains or losses.

Credit Default Swaps

A credit default swap is a bilateral financial contract under which the protection buyer pays a fee, usually expressed in basis points per annum on the notional amount, in return for a payment by the protection seller contingent on the occurrence of a credit event, such as a bankruptcy, default, or restructuring, with respect to a referenced entity. The credit events and applicable settlement mechanism used to determine the contingent payment are negotiated between the counterparties at the time of trading. Once the credit event has been declared, the protection buyer has the right to settle the contract. Settlement is usually physical, with the protection buyer receives the par value of those obligations. Selling protection is the synthetic equivalent of buying a bond or alternative form of debt. Buying protection is the equivalent of synthetically shorting or hedging a bond or other credit exposure.

Credit default swap agreements on credit indices involve one party making a stream of payments to another party in exchange for the right to receive a specified return in the event of a write-down, principal shortfall, interest shortfall or default of all or part of the reference entities comprising the credit index. A credit index is a list of a basket of credit instruments or exposures designed to be representative of some part of the credit market as a whole. Components of the indices may include, but are not limited to, investment grade securities, high yield securities, asset backed securities, emerging markets, and/or various credit ratings within each sector. Credit indices are traded using credit default swaps with standardised terms including a fixed spread and standard maturity dates. An index credit default swap references all the names in the index, and if there is a default, the credit event is settled based on that name's weight in the index. The composition of the indices change periodically, usually every six months, and for most indices, each name has an equal weight in the index. The Sub-Fund may use credit default swaps on credit indices to hedge a portfolio of credit default swaps or bonds with a credit default swap on indices which may be less expensive than it would be to buy many credit default swaps to achieve a similar effect. Credit default swaps on indices are benchmarks for protecting investors owning bonds against default, and traders use them to speculate on changes in credit quality.

The use of credit default swap contracts is restricted to the extent that the benefits to the Sub-Fund mirror that which could be obtained by direct investment in the underlying instruments and that the swaps do not expose the Sub-Fund to risks which it would not otherwise assume (other than the exposure to the credit default swap counterparty). The upfront payment received by a Sub-Fund, as protection seller, is recorded as a liability on the Sub-Fund's books. An upfront payment made by a Sub-Fund, as protection buyer, is recorded as an asset on the Sub-Fund's books.

Swaptions

When a Sub-Fund writes a swaption, an amount equal to the premium received by the Sub-Fund is recorded as a liability and is subsequently adjusted to the current fair value of the swaption written. Premiums received from the written swaptions which expire unexercised are treated by the Sub-Fund on the expiration dates as realised gains. If a written call swaption is exercised, the premium is added to the proceeds from the sale of the underlying swap in determining the realised gain or loss. If a written put swaption is exercised, the premium reduces the cost basis of the swap purchased.

When a Sub-Fund purchases a swaption, an amount equal to the premium paid by the Sub-Fund is recorded as an asset and is subsequently adjusted to the current fair value of the swaption purchased. Premiums paid for the purchase of swaptions which expire unexercised are treated on the expiration date as realised losses. If a purchased payer swaption is exercised, the premium is subtracted from the proceeds of the underlying swap in determining whether the relevant Sub-Fund has realised a gain or a loss. If a purchased receiver swaption is exercised, the premium is added to the cost basis of the floating rate investment that has been swapped.

Options contracts

The unrealised gain or loss on open option contract is calculated and recorded as the fair value of the option contract less the premium paid on that option. The fair value of the options contracts which are dealt in on a securities market are the settlement price as determined by the market. Unrealised gains or losses on open options contracts are included in financial assets and liabilities at fair value through profit or loss in the Statement of Financial Position.

The premium on purchased put options contracts exercised is subtracted from the proceeds of the sale of the underlying security or foreign currency in determining the realised gain or loss. The premium on purchased call options contracts exercised is added to the cost of the securities or foreign currency purchased. Premiums paid from the purchase of options contracts, which expire unexercised, are treated as realised losses.

Offsetting financial instruments

Financial assets and liabilities are offset and the net amount reported in the Statement of Financial Position when there is a legally enforceable right to offset the recognised amounts and there is an intention to settle on a net basis, or realise the asset and settle the liability simultaneously.

Due from and due to brokers

Amounts due from and to brokers represent receivables for securities sold and payables for securities purchased respectively, that have been contracted for but not yet settled or delivered on the statement of financial position date.

These amounts are recognised initially at fair value and subsequently measured at amortised cost, less provision for impairment for amounts due from brokers, if any. A provision for impairment of amounts due from brokers is established when there is objective evidence that the Fund will not be able to collect all amounts due from the relevant broker.

Cash at bank

Cash at bank includes cash in hand, deposits held on call with banks or brokers and other short-term highly liquid investments with original maturities of three months or less. Cash and other liquid assets are valued at their face value with interest accrued, where applicable, to the valuation point on the relevant dealing day, unless in the opinion of the Directors (in consultation with Nomura Asset Management U.K. Limited (the "Investment Manager") and the Administrator), any adjustment should be made to reflect the true value thereof.

Company cash accounts

A number of Company cash accounts are being operated by the Administrator, on behalf of the Company pursuant to the Central Bank of Ireland Guidance paper entitled Umbrella Funds – Cash Accounts Holding Subscription, Redemption and Dividend Monies. These cash accounts, held with Brown Brothers Harriman Trustee Services (Ireland) Limited (the "Depositary") for collection of unprocessed subscription monies received from investors, redemption monies payable to investors and/or other amounts due to investors for the Company are deemed assets of the Company. The balance on these cash accounts is reflected on the Statement of Financial Position of the Company with an appropriate equal and opposite liability.

Amounts due from broker on margin accounts

The amounts receivable from brokers on margin accounts include cash held with the futures brokers as well as the appropriate payable or receivable for the change in value when the futures contracts are marked to market each day.

Redeemable participating shares

The Fund issues redeemable participating shares, which are redeemable at the holder's option and are classified as financial liabilities. Redeemable participating shares can be put back to the Fund at any time for cash equal to a proportionate share of the particular Sub-Fund's Net Asset Value. The redeemable participating share is carried at the redemption amount that is payable at the statement of financial position date if the holder exercises the right to put the share back to the Fund.

Redeemable participating shares are issued and redeemed at the holder's option at prices based on the Sub-Fund's Net Asset Value per share at the time of issue or redemption. The Sub-Fund's Net Asset Value per share is calculated by dividing the net assets attributable to the holders of redeemable participating shares with the total number of outstanding redeemable participating shares. In accordance with the provisions of the Fund's regulations, investment positions are valued based on the last traded market price for the purpose of determining the Net Asset Value per share for subscriptions and redemptions.

Income from Securities Lending

The Fund may lend portions of its securities to third parties. The volume of the securities lending transactions is kept at an appropriate level. The Fund is entitled to request the return of the securities lend in a manner that enables it, at all times, to meet its redemption obligations. It is ensured that securities lending transactions do not jeopardise the management of the Fund's assets in accordance with its investment policy. The income earned from the securities lending program is included in "Operating income" in the Statement of Comprehensive Income. Income from securities lending is accounted for on a receipt basis.

Swing Pricing

Under certain circumstances and unless otherwise provided in the Supplement relating to a Sub-Fund, the Directors have the power to adjust the Net Asset Value per share applicable to the issue price (the "Swing Pricing"). In any case, the adjustments to the Net Asset Value per share applicable at any valuation point shall be identical for all issues dealt with as of that business day.

Under certain circumstances (for example, large volumes of deals), investment and/or disinvestment costs may have an adverse effect on the shareholders' interests in a Sub-Fund. In order to prevent this effect, called "dilution", the Directors may determine that the Swing Pricing methodology applies so as to allow for the Net Asset Value per share to be adjusted upwards or downwards by dealing and other costs and fiscal charges which would be payable on the effective acquisition or disposal of assets in the relevant Sub-Fund if the net capital activity exceeds, as a consequence of the aggregate transactions in that Sub-Fund on a given business day, a threshold set by the Directors from time to time.

If the net cash movement of subscriptions and redemptions into and out of a particular Sub-Fund across all share classes on a given business day (the "Net Capital Activity") leads to a net inflow of assets in excess of the threshold in the relevant Sub-Fund, the Net Asset Value used to process all subscriptions, redemptions or conversions in that Sub-Fund is adjusted upwards by the swing factor set by the Directors from time to time. If the Net Capital Activity on a given business day leads to a net outflow of assets in excess of the threshold in the relevant Sub-Fund, the Net Asset Value used to process all subscriptions, redemptions or conversions in that Sub-Fund is adjusted upwards by the swing factor set by the Directors from time to time.

In any case, the swing factor shall not exceed 1.00% of the Net Asset Value per share of the relevant Sub-Fund. Further, for the purpose of calculating the expenses of a Sub-Fund which are based on the Net Asset Value of the relevant Sub-Fund, the Administrator will continue to use the un-swung Net Asset Value.

2. Security lending

The following tables show the fair value of securities on loan at 30th June, 2024 and at 31st December, 2023 as well as the collateral held and collateral level.

In accordance with the Securities Lending Agency Agreement (SLAA), for each loan of securities Brown Brothers Harriman & Co. ("BBH") accepts non-cash collateral on behalf of the Nomura Funds participating in the BBH Securities Lending Program. Non-cash collateral is limited to securities issued or fully guaranteed by the United States government or issued and unconditionally guaranteed by any agencies thereof or issued or fully guaranteed by any of the G-10 sovereigns.

The sovereign debt currently accepted by BBH on behalf of the Nomura Funds which participate in the BBH Securities Lending Program are: US, UK, Sweden, Switzerland, France, Germany and Netherlands.

7. Financial risk management

Fair value estimation

The Fund has classified fair value measurements using a fair value hierarchy that reflects the significance of the inputs used in making the measurements. The fair value hierarchy has the following levels:

- Level 1: Investments, whose values are based on quoted market prices in active markets, and therefore classified within level 1, include active listed equities and exchange traded derivatives. Quoted prices for these instruments are not adjusted.
- (ii) Level 2: Financial instruments that trade in markets that are not considered to be active but are valued based on quoted market prices, dealer quotations or alternative pricing sources supported by observable inputs are classified within level 2. These include investment-grade corporate bonds, listed equities on markets that are not active and over-the-counter derivatives. As level 2 investments include positions that are not traded in active markets and/or are subject to transfer restrictions, valuations may be adjusted to reflect illiquidity and/or non-transferability, which are generally based on available market information. Investments classified within Level 2 are the following asset classes: bonds, forward foreign currency contracts, swaps and OTC derivatives. Forward Foreign Currency Contracts are priced based on the current spot rate, provided by financial FX vendors, plus or minus the applicable number of forward points. This is the forward rate. The number of forward points on a given exchange rate is determined by the prevailing interest rates in each market, the time period between the spot and forward rates as well as other market factors. Bonds are valued based on the latest bid prices obtained from Markit as per the Nomura Funds Ireland Plc pricing hierarchy. All assets that are not exchange traded but where the price is observable either directly or indirectly is deemed to be a Level 2.
- (iii) Level 3: Investments classified within level 3 have significant unobservable inputs, as they trade infrequently. Pricing inputs are unobservable for the investment and include situations where there is little, if any, market activity for the Instrument. The inputs into the determination of fair value require significant management judgement or estimation. As observable prices are not available for these securities, the Fund has used valuation techniques to derive the fair value, if applicable.

The level in the fair value hierarchy within which the fair value measurement is categorised in its entirety is determined on the basis of the lowest level input that is significant to the fair value measurement in its entirety. For this purpose, the significance of an input is assessed against the fair value measurement in its entirety. If a fair value measurement uses observable inputs that require significant adjustment based on unobservable inputs, that measurement is a level 3 measurement. Assessing the significance of a particular input to the fair value measurement in its entirety requires judgement, considering factors specific to the financial asset or liability.

The determination of what constitutes 'observable' requires significant judgement by the Directors in consultation with the Investment Manager. The Directors consider observable data to be that market data that is readily available, regularly distributed or updated, reliable and verifiable, not proprietary, and provided by independent sources that are actively involved in the relevant market.

The following tables analyse within the fair value hierarchy the Sub-Funds' financial assets and financial liabilities measured at fair value at 30th June, 2024 and 31st December, 2023:

To the extent that leverage is employed, leverage will be measured using the commitment approach of measuring risk, whereby such leverage cannot exceed 100 per cent of the Net Asset Value of a Sub-Fund. Where a Sub-Fund invests in financial derivative instruments for such purposes, a risk management process will be submitted to the Central Bank by the Fund, prior to a Sub-Fund engaging in such transactions in accordance with the Central Bank's requirements as set out in UCITS Regulations.
