Legal notice

The software used performs calculations on the basis of more than the two decimal places displayed. Minor discrepancies cannot be ruled out due to further calculations using published results.

The value of a unit is calculated by dividing the entire value of the investment fund inclusive of its income by the number of units. The total value of the investment fund is calculated on the basis of the current market prices of the securities, money market instruments and subscription rights in the fund plus the value of the fund's financial investments, cash holdings, credit balances, receivables and other rights net of its payables. That value will be calculated by the custodian bank.

The net assets are calculated in accordance with the following principles:

- a) The value of assets quoted or traded on a stock exchange or other regulated market shall be determined, in principle, on the basis of the most recently available price.
- b) Where an asset is not quoted or traded on a stock market or another regulated market or where the price for an asset quoted or traded on a stock market or another regulated market does not appropriately reflect its actual market value, the prices provided by reliable data providers or, alternatively, market prices for equivalent securities or other recognized market valuation methods shall be used.

The Russian assets in the fund are valued according to the following principles:

1. Securities from Russian issuers are currently illiquid and not able to be traded due to the sanctions (and Russian countersanctions) imposed in connection with the war between Ukraine and Russia; their value is therefore indicated with a zero.
2. Accrued interest on fixed-interest ruble-denominated bonds is currently recognized in full as a receivable owed to the fund.
3. Deposits held in the Russian Federation and other deposits affected by the sanctions/countersanctions are currently held in blocked accounts. The balances shown on these accounts are currently not available and cannot be withdrawn. At present, these deposits are valued at their full amount without any discount.

The performance is calculated by Raiffeisen KAG on the basis of published fund prices, using the method developed by OeKB (Österreichische Kontrollbank AG). Individual costs such as transaction fees, the subscription fee, the redemption fee, the custody charges of the investor and taxes are not included in the performance calculation. If included, these would lead to a lower performance. Past performance is not a reliable indicator of future performance. Markets could develop very differently in the future. Based on the illustration, you can assess how the fund was managed in the past.

Fund investment policy report

CB segment

The reporting period was still dominated by the slow decline of inflation, weak growth in Europe and further interest rate hikes by the European Central Bank (ECB), most recently September's 0.25 % increase in the deposit rate to 4 %. All in all, investment grade corporates nevertheless had an advantage over German government bonds during the reporting period, while the overall market posted a fairly neutral performance in absolute terms. Due to a slight narrowing of their risk premiums and thanks to their more attractive yields, investment grade corporates outperformed government bonds. This was due on the one hand to the technical condition of the market, which was dominated by lower new issue activity and low investment quotas on the part of investors, as well as a cocktail of better-than-expected company data, hopes of an end to the string of interest rate hikes, and a gradual flattening of inflation curves. The slow decline in core inflation remained a major concern, creating difficulties specifically for central banks. On the whole, risk was rewarded. High-beta corporates had an advantage over low-beta corporates (sub IG vs IG, subordinated debt vs senior debt, lower ratings vs higher ratings). Overall, this translated into a positive development for the segment. There were no extreme spikes at the individual stock level; the corporate bonds segment tracked the general market for corporate bonds and reaped additional benefits from a sometimes slightly more offensive positioning, including the addition of just over 10 % BB bonds to the segment. In terms of interest rates, the offensive approach was stepped up further to around 4.75 years, particularly in the eurozone. We believe that the market has already overreacted to some degree, especially in the longer maturities segment, and that the trend may bottom out and yields may fall again, not least due to the weaker economic outlook.

Equities segment

The equities segment posted a gain of 0.51 % in the reporting period. Volatility on the stock markets has stayed fairly high over the last six months, although the US indices and Japan have clearly diverged from most European indices. While the former saw some healthy gains, the signs in Europe were mostly negative. The string of central bank rate hikes on both sides of the Atlantic is well underway, and the only uncertainty now is the actual end of this process. The subsequent downturn in the macroeconomic environment and a further deterioration of leading indicators contributed to a gradual cooling of investor sentiment. Equities in the real estate, basic consumer goods and utilities sectors posted a very weak performance in the reporting period. IT and communication services, on the other hand, recorded significant gains. From mid-October 2023 onwards, predominantly sound quarterly figures and consistently solid corporate prospects somewhat allayed investors' concerns and the stock markets recovered to some extent. In terms of currencies, the US dollar rose around 3.6 % against the euro in the reporting period, while the Japanese yen lost 6.3 %. At the end of October, the equities segment comprised 63 equities. Key stock-picking criteria include a solid balance sheet, above-average dividend yields, relative price power and especially a positive long-term dividend history. In recent months, the segment newly acquired shares of the French luxury group Kering. Total, ENI and the two spin-off positions Sandoz and WK Kellogg were sold and the proceeds were invested in the spin-off parent company Novartis and Kellanova, respectively. On the reporting date, the biggest exposure in terms of countries was in the USA, followed by Japan and France.

At the sector level, the most substantial weightings were IT, finance and healthcare.

MAS segment

The MAS segment of Raiffeisen-Income handles the fund's overall risk management.

Interest rate risk was raised significantly in the reporting period.

In return, subordinated bonds were included. In the case of European government bonds, purchases focused on very long maturities with a high convexity level.

EMB segment

In the reporting period, emerging markets bonds did not record any gains. The bonds were not immune to the rising trend in global yields. On top of this, the growing likelihood of a recession in the USA and further interest rate hikes by the FED pushed up risk premiums on emerging market bonds.

Central banks around the world addressed the surge in inflation in 2022 with sharp interest rate hikes, among them the US Federal Reserve. The prospect of interest rate hikes in the USA gradually gained further momentum in 2023, leading to heightened concerns about the economy. This decline in long-term interest rates propped up performance over the summer months. However, renewed concerns about the Chinese real estate market and the healthy development of the US labour market in Q3 resulted in a negative overall performance.

In the period under review, the fund's risk was consistently lower. No additional income could be generated from this defensive positioning. Towards the end of the reporting period, the fund benefited from lower USD interest rate sensitivity. As a result of the stronger correlation between higher rating classes and the trend in US dollar interest rates, the overweight in sub-BBB bonds versus BBB+ and A-rated bonds generated additional gains in the course of the current investment year. Gains were achieved through a reduction of Asia and the Middle East, especially Saudi Arabia, Qatar and Abu Dhabi. The increase in B-rated countries, such as Angola, Ghana, Nigeria, Namibia or Costa Rica, also generated additional gains. At the regional level, the overweight of Latin America and Africa versus Eastern Europe and Asia, in particular, was maintained. However, the shift to ESG-focused investments, including the exclusion of countries such as Iraq, Pakistan, El Salvador, Honduras, Mozambique and Tunisia, resulted in a significant underperformance over the course of the reporting period.

Risk premiums for emerging markets bonds remain at the mercy of FED policies, international capital movements, the impact of the war in Ukraine and future global growth prospects. Additional income was generated from securities lending transactions.
